Senate Group Ups Foreign Aid Measure

Committee Boosts Bill To $4,502,600,000; Add $110 Million

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee boosted the administration's foreign aid bill to $4,502,600,000 today in the face of prospects for a long and bitter row on the Senate floor.

It added 100 million dollars in restoring the remaining half of a 200-million-dollar presidential fund for "Asian economic development" Congress authorized last year, but which the House voted to repeal.

This was in the morning session. In an afternoon meeting the committee made cuts totaling $12,400,000 in sections dealing with technical phases of the program.

As the committee recessed until 10 a.m. EDT tomorrow, the measure carried $702,600,000 more than the House allowed.

While the decision to restore the 100 million in spending authority for the Asian fund was a temporary victory for President Eisenhower, the big fight will come on the floor next week.

Centers Around Action

This will center around the committee's action yesterday in voting 9-5 to raise funds for foreign military aid by 600 million dollars above the House, which slashed this program by a billion dollars.

Chairman Bridges (NH) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee said there will be an effort to cut foreign aid even below the House allowances. He said the "outcome of the effort to raise 600 million dollars more in foreign military assistance is very much in doubt."

While Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California is supporting the increase, Bridges indicated he would not go that high. Bridges predicted the Senate may settle for somewhere between the Senate and House figures.

Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, voiced his support of the 600-million-dollar increase.

Have To Be Guided

"We have to be guided in a matter so great by the recommendations of the President and the Joint Chiefs of Staff," Kefauver told a reporter. "In matters of foreign policy with the world situation what it is, it is time to close ranks."

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), who voted to support the increase, said in a separate interview that the decision "will be a close one."

As the committee continued its work on the bill behind closed doors, Chairman George (D-Ga.) said a Saturday session may be needed to complete action.

Sen. Langer (R-Ind.), who says he has "never voted for a single dollar" of this "so-called foreign giveaway program since I have been in the Senate," advocated a cut of a billion dollars below that the House voted. Such a cut has been advocated by Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Armed Services Committee.

BALTIMORE, June 15 (AP)—Del. E. Homer White (D-Wicomico) has been appointed a member of the legislative council to succeed Del. Henry Hanna, another Wicomico County Democrat.

House speaker John C. Luber announced White's appointment. Luber said Hanna reported he was resigning from the council because of business reasons.

Easy To Sneak 'Hot Money' To U.S. To Invest

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—A federal reserve economist told senators today it would be easy for Russia to sneak "hot money" through foreign banks and invest it in the United States.

Arthur I. Bloomfield, senior economist of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, said a "considerable amount of foreign hot money" has poured into this country since World War II, much of it difficult to trace.

He defined "hot money" as capital manipulated for "clandestine or illegal purposes," sometimes to escape taxes.

Bloomfield testified before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, which declared Communist money has been allowed to "invade the U. S. economy."

The subcommittee said it is investigating the possible need for new laws to deal with "programs of certain foreign countries which permit undisclosed monies of citizens of all nations, including Communist ones," to filter into the United States.

Bloomfield mentioned Switzerland especially as a channel for capital whose source is difficult—often impossible—to pin down.

The witness said he knows little about where hard-to-trace capital comes from. But he told the subcommittee it would be "technically quite feasible" for Russia or any Soviet country to get dollars through Swiss or other foreign banks and invest the money in this country anonymously.

Bloomfield said the entire flow of "hot money" has diminished in the last few years. He said the officially declared Soviet or satellite capital in the United States is very small.

He and Fred Klopstock, chief of the reserve bank's balance of payments division, said known Russian short-term dollar assets here totaled about four millions in 1950 but had dwindled to $704,000 last year. They gave no figures for long-term investments.

The witnesses said Swiss long- and short-term assets in this country have been increasing to more than two billions at present.

Except for capital placed here by the Swiss government, Bloomfield testified, "we know the money came from people domiciled in Switzerland—we don't know if they held it for citizens of other countries." He added the Swiss "protect the people they deal with" and practice "banking secrecy."

N.Y. Subways Face Another Strike Threat

Union Head Predicts Another Crippling Walkout Next Week

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—Subways rumbled along on schedule today after the first citywide strike in history crippled New York City transit yesterday. But rumors and threats of a new strike outsped the trains along the 228 miles of subway tracks.

Michael J. Quill, whose solidly entrenched AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union was a target in yesterday's wildcat strike by rival motormen, predicted a repeat performance next week "with an even more crippling subway strike by the same mob."

A baby union, the Motormen's Benevolent Assn., went ahead with its original plans for a strike meeting next Tuesday night.

Its members, already on record by voice vote in favor of a strike next Wednesday, were being polled anew by mail.

MBA motormen launched yesterday's nine-hour strike after the suspension of two of their members.

Pledge Themselves

A second fledgling anti-Quill union of subway maintenance men pledged itself to respect picket lines if the MBA goes out a second time.

The MBA appeared to be sitting tight. Its blond, 6-foot president, Theodore Loos, said in a statement:

"Motormen, stay on the job, obey orders and do not let anyone provoke you. At next Tuesday's meeting the body will determine our future actions. Our coworkers will decide that future action."

"Neither the Transit Authority nor the mayor has offered to sit down with us now or at anytime. If anything drastic reoccurs, it will be their responsibility and not ours."

Mayor Robert F. Wagner warned: "We are not going to have this again."

Loos and 24 other MBA officials were among 27 motormen placed under suspension today for their part in the strike. Transit Authority officials said suspensions may eventually reach 150.

However, as a condition of ending the strike shortly before last midnight, a state law requiring immediate discharge of subway strikers was not being invoked. And most of the 100 or more motormen suspended during the strike were back in their cabs.

Yesterday's strike started at 1 p.m. when three motormen walked off the job at Coney Island. It snowballed swiftly and reached an alarming climax during the hectic evening rush hour when millions of New Yorkers head home. Subways carry 4½ million passengers a day in New York.

Two of the three lines were down completely for short periods. An estimated 780,000 riders were stranded.

Monumental traffic jams sprang up. Buses, trains and taxis were pushed near the breaking point.

Brownell Ends Security Plan

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell today suspended the Eisenhower administration's federal employee security program as it applied to persons in non-sensitive jobs.

Brownell's action, which means immediate restoration of 17 suspended federal employees to their jobs, was taken to conform with a Supreme Court ruling of last Monday.

This ruling, already under sharp attack by some members of Congress, was to the effect that the government may not summarily dismiss on security grounds workers whose jobs are not directly concerned with national security.

The court's 6-3 decision did not reverse the government's right to fire employees of "sensitive" departments and agencies on security grounds, but it made ineffective President Eisenhower's 1953 order extending this procedure to all government agencies and departments.

Brownell said today's action was taken to assure that the executive branch of the government "complies fully" with the court ruling. He said he was advising all departments and agencies that any employee holding a non-sensitive position and presently under suspension in pending civilian employee security proceedings should be restored to duty immediately.

"There are 17 such employees," his statement said.

Two Priests Freed By China Commies

HONG KONG, June 15 (AP)—Two Roman Catholic missionaries from San Francisco, the Rev. John William Clifford and the Rev. Thomas Leonard Phillips, have been released from prison in Red China. Radio Peiping announced today. They are expected to reach Hong Kong within a week.

The priests are the first U. S. citizens to be freed by the Chinese Communists since Dr. and Mrs. Homer Bradshaw, Presbyterian missionaries, were turned loose last Dec. 20.

Eleven U. S. citizens remain in Red Chinese jails.

Father Clifford and Father Phillips were freed exactly three years after they were arrested in Shanghai. Last November they were taken from their jail cells for a public trial on charges of espionage and counterrevolutionary activities against the Communist state. They were convicted and sentenced to three years in prison.

The Peiping broadcast said: "Two American offenders, John William Clifford and Thomas Leonard Phillips, who completed their prison terms on June 15, were released by the authorities today."

Advance notice had been received here through the British diplomatic mission in Peiping and through the British Red Cross. U. S. and British consular officials and church representatives went to the Hong Kong-China border today before the Peiping broadcast, hoping to be able to greet the two. Now it appears they will not reach this British colony for several days.

The Reds refused Jan. 6 to release the last 13 Americans they held, despite a promise Sept. 10, 1955, to free all. Talks in Geneva between U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Red Chinese Envoy Wang Ping-nan have been stalemated for months on this issue and what the United States calls Chinese refusal to make "a meaningful renunciation of force" in settlement of the Formosa issue. The Chinese want a U. S. China conference of foreign ministers to discuss outstanding issues.

Release of the two priests raised hope the Johnson-Wang negotiations would begin to make progress on the question of the U. S. prisoners, at least.

The Americans remaining imprisoned in Red China are:

John Thomas Downey of New Britain, Conn., and Richard Henry Fecteau of Lynn, Mass., civilian employees of the Army and Air Force who were aboard a plane shot down in 1952;

The Rev. Fulgence Gross of Omaha and the Rev. John A. Houle of Union City, N. J., Roman Catholic missionaries;

The Rev. Paul J. Mackensen, a Lutheran minister of Pittsburgh and Baltimore;

Robert E. McCann, businessman of Altadena, Calif.;

The Rev. Charles J. McCarthy, theology teacher of Modesto, Calif.;

The Rev. Joseph McCormack, Roman Catholic missionary of New York;

Bishop Ambrose Pinger, Roman Catholic missionary of Chicago;

Hugh Francis Redmond of Yonkers, N. Y., a businessman arrested on spy charges in 1951; and

The Rev. John Paul Wagner, Roman Catholic priest from Chicago.

Doctors Say Ike Spends Normal Day

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower's doctors announced today he had passed another milestone on the recovery road, but there was still no word whether he would go through with his drive for a second term.

A medical bulletin announced that "normal physiological activity of the intestinal tract" had been restored, six days after he underwent an emergency abdominal operation.

This news from Walter Reed Army Hospital was coupled with word at noon that it had not been necessary to feed the President. He was sipping two ounces of warm liquids—such as beef broth and tea—from a cup every hour.

In late afternoon another medical bulletin said Eisenhower was progressing "very satisfactorily" and had gone through "a good day." The report at 5:15 p.m. EDT said he "continued to receive fluids by mouth," and James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said the President remained off the intravenous feeding.

Eisenhower slept at intervals during the afternoon but was awake to chat with Mrs. Eisenhower and receive a brief visit from his son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower.

On the business side, the President conferred for 15 minutes with his chief aide, Sherman Adams, and signed a total of 21 documents.

And he arranged to confer at the hospital Monday with Vice President Nixon and Secretary of State Dulles. The President said Dulles briefly yesterday. The Monday session will be his first with Nixon since being hospitalized.

The big question—whether Eisenhower will continue in the presidential race despite this second major illness in nine months—still went unanswered. The President will have an opportunity to talk to Nixon about that Monday, but there was no advance indication whether he would do so.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said the doctors' announcement regarding restoration of intestinal activity meant that Eisenhower's physiological digestive process were operating normally for the first time since he underwent major surgery early last Saturday. He was operated on for relief of a partial obstruction of the small intestine, described by the physicians as a potentially fatal ailment unless corrected.

British Close In On Rebel Hideout

TROODOS MOUNTAINS, Cyprus, June 15 (AP)—Five thousand British troops closed in today on what they believe to be the hideout of 10 underground Greek Cypriot guerrilla leaders in the sun-baked Troodos Mountains.

Their main objective is the capture of the mysterious chief of the guerrillas known as Digenis.

The operation, dubbed Lucky Alphonse, covered 64 square miles when it started last Saturday. Now the ring has shrunk to four square miles.

Groom Forgets Where He Left Bride In Motel

BAY CITY, Mich., June 15 (AP)—The case of the missing bridegroom who wandered all night looking for his mislaid motel was solved today.

State Police caught up with Bronson La Moure, 44, as he was wearily searching for the motel where he had left his bride 16 hours earlier.

La Moure's bride of three days reported him missing at 9:30 a.m. today. He had failed to return from a shopping trip last evening after the couple stopped at a motel on U. S. 23 two miles south of Bay City.

The sheepish La Moure, of Jacksonville, Fla., told police he had forgotten the name of the motel. Officers said he was searching about three miles away from the right one.

Next Congress May Legislate Video Time

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash.) said today the next Congress will consider "drastic legislation" governing television time for political candidates unless the networks write new "ground rules."

He told Robert Kintner, president of the American Broadcasting Co., he hopes the networks can determine—without legislation—how both parties can receive equal chances this fall to use television.

As matters stand, he said during a hearing of the Senate Commerce Committee, candidates with the most money often have the best chance to win. Magnuson is committee chairman.

Kintner, testifying during an inquiry into TV problems, agreed it is a "serious problem."

But he said that so-called "free time" for candidates actually amounts to contributions to parties by the networks because they pay the cost.

Magnuson asserted: "If we don't have some ground rules, a lot of people are going to be mad and in the next Congress we're going to have some drastic legislation."

Another committee member, Sen. Potter (R-Mich.), asked Kintner whether ABC ever editorializes on the air.

"We believe a network should have the right to editorialize," Kintner replied. "However, we haven't utilized it."

But he added that ABC hopes some day to determine a way that editorializing can be done fairly. He said one ABC station in Chicago is considering editorializing on a local basis.

In his general testimony, Kintner's central theme was that any "monopoly" that exists in the network field can be broken by simply permitting more stations to operate.

Thus, he held, there would be no need of government regulation of networks, such as has been proposed by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio). At present only individual stations are subject to regulation by the Federal Communications Commission.

Train Smoking Car Scene Of Couple's Bridal Shower

PHILADELPHIA, June 15 (AP)—The smoking car of the Reading Railroad's Newtown local was the scene of a bridal shower today for a young couple who met and fell in love sharing a double seat on their way to work over the last two years.

It was a sight to startle the railroad rider accustomed to no more than a vista of newspaper-reading commuters.

The seat normally occupied by Miss Helen B. Corbett, 21, and her fiancé, F. Roy Kay Jr., 26, was gaily decorated with crepe paper. The luggage racks were groaning under a wide assortment of equally gay packages. Colorful paper streamers hung down everywhere.

As Helen mounted the steps of the smoker at nearby Lawndale today, she expected only to be greeted by Kay. Instead she was ushered into the car by the conductor, Charles H. Goodnow.

In a prominent spot was a large drawing, showing Helen running away from her employer into the arms of her husband-to-be. The card had been signed by 30 or more commuters.

Union Turns Down Big 3's New Proposal

Raises The Possibility Of Strike Of 650,000 Workers In Industry

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—A deadlock developed today between the Big Three steel firms and the United Steelworkers of America in negotiations on a new contract.

The union rejected wage and other proposals by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic as "entirely inadequate."

Big Three spokesmen replied that to meet the union demands would "touch off another ruinous round of inflation and undermine the business of companies."

The impasse appeared to knock out previously expressed hopes for both union and management for an early settlement.

Possibility Of Strike

It also raised the possibility of a strike by the 650,000 workers in the basic steel industry when present contracts expire June 30.

However, the two sides will continue to meet. Four-man negotiating teams representing management and the union will get together tomorrow at 10 a.m.

The Big Three proposed a five-year, no-strike contract calling for annual wage increases for each of the next five years; a layoff pay program, four per cent extra pay for Sunday work, and other benefits.

David J. McDonald, union president, blasted the wage offer as "picaresque" and the other benefits as inadequate.

He said the companies offered a direct wage increase of six cents an hour, plus minor adjustments for skilled employees, but that employees would have to pay 1½ cents an hour more for insurance.

The industry's wage offer, therefore, would result in a take-home pay increase to the average steelworker this year of about "a nickel an hour—about two per cent," he said, adding:

"To get this trifling two per cent wage increase, the steelworkers would be required to mortgage an unpredictable future by agreeing now to settle their fate and that of their families for a similar wage settlement each year of a five-year term."

On this point, the Big Three asserted:

"The three companies' proposal would increase their labor costs by the end of the five-year period by more than 65 cents per hour worked; and of this sum, 17-23 cents an hour per employee would be effective this year."

The companies held that the steelworkers' proposals, if accepted, would increase employment costs immediately by about 25 per cent.

Conference Delayed By Ike's Illness

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—The Inter-American conference in Panama has been postponed, in hope of picking a new date when President Eisenhower can attend.

Eisenhower, up to the time he became ill a week ago, had planned to take part in a meeting of American presidents June 25-26, the closing feature of the session scheduled to begin June 22.

Selection of a new time for the meeting was left to the general committee of the Council of the Organization of American States.

In late afternoon another medical bulletin said Eisenhower was progressing "very satisfactorily" and had gone through "a good day." The report at 5:15 p.m. EDT said he "continued to receive fluids by mouth," and James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said the President remained off the intravenous feeding.

Eisenhower slept at intervals during the afternoon but was awake to chat with Mrs. Eisenhower and receive a brief visit from his son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower.

On the business side, the President conferred for 15 minutes with his chief aide, Sherman Adams, and signed a total of 21 documents. And he arranged to confer at the hospital Monday with Vice President Nixon and Secretary of State Dulles. The President saw Dulles briefly yesterday. The Monday session will be his first with Nixon since being hospitalized.

The big question—whether Eisenhower will continue in the presidential race despite this second major illness in nine months—still went unanswered. The President will have an opportunity to talk to Nixon about that Monday, but there was no advance indication whether he would do so.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said the doctors' announcement regarding restoration of Eisenhower's physiological digestive process were operating normally for the first time since he underwent major surgery early last Saturday. He was operated on for relief of a partial obstruction of the small intestine, described by the physicians as a potentially fatal ailment unless corrected.

The latest version indicated that the U. S. agents, due to a "momentary failure to identify each other," engaged each other in something of a brawl. All the while, according to this version, real Russian agents who were on the scene looked on calmly.

The weird incident occurred in August 1949 in Three Musketeers Restaurant on Connecticut Avenue two blocks from the White House. Pirogov gave his version at a secret hearing Wednesday before the Senate subcommittee, which made the testimony public today.

The Senate Internal Security subcommittee acknowledged that it was confused U. S. agents who put the handcuffs on airman Peter Pirogov in the belief that he was about to be kidnapped and returned to Russia.

Groom Forgets Where He Left Bride In Motel

BAY CITY, Mich., June 15 (AP)—The case of the missing bridegroom who wandered all night looking for his mislaid motel was solved today.

State Police caught up with Bronson La Moure, 44, as he was wearily searching for the motel where he had left his bride 16 hours earlier.

La Moure's bride of three days reported him missing at 9:30 a.m. today. He had failed to return from a shopping trip last evening after the couple stopped at a motel on U. S. 23 two miles south of Bay City.

The sheepish La Moure, of Jacksonville, Fla., told police he had forgotten the name of the motel. Officers said he was searching about three miles away from the right one.

Next Congress May Legislate Video Time

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash.) said today the next Congress will consider "drastic legislation" governing television time for political candidates unless the networks write new "ground rules."

He told Robert Kintner, president of the American Broadcasting Co., he hopes the networks can determine—without legislation—how both parties can receive equal chances this fall to use television.

As matters stand, he said during a hearing of the Senate Commerce Committee, candidates with the most money often have the best chance to win. Magnuson is committee chairman.

Kintner, testifying during an inquiry into TV problems, agreed it is a "serious problem."

But he said that so-called "free time" for candidates actually amounts to contributions to parties by the networks because they pay the cost.

Magnuson asserted: "If we don't have some ground rules, a lot of people are going to be mad and in the next Congress we're going to have some drastic legislation."

Another committee member, Sen. Potter (R-Mich.), asked Kintner whether ABC ever editorializes on the air.

"We believe a network should have the right to editorialize," Kintner replied. "However, we haven't utilized it."

But he added that ABC hopes some day to determine a way that editorializing can be done fairly. He said one ABC station in Chicago is considering editorializing on a local basis.

In his general testimony, Kintner's central theme was that any "monopoly" that exists in the network field can be broken by simply permitting more stations to operate.

Thus, he held, there would be no need of government regulation of networks, such as has been proposed by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio). At present only individual stations are subject to regulation by the Federal Communications Commission.

Treaty In Effect

BONN, June 15 (AP)—The West German-United States Friendship Treaty is in effect, the Foreign Office announced today.

Train Smoking Car Scene Of Couple's Bridal Shower

PHILADELPHIA, June 15 (AP)—The smoking car of the Reading Railroad's Newtown local was the scene of a bridal shower today for a young couple who met and fell in love sharing a double seat on their way to work over the last two years.

It was a sight to startle the railroad rider accustomed to no more than a vista of newspaper-reading commuters.

The seat normally occupied by Miss Helen B. Corbett, 21, and her fiancé, F. Roy Kay Jr., 26, was gaily decorated with crepe paper.

The luggage racks were groaning under a wide assortment of equally gay packages. Colorful paper streamers hung down everywhere.

As Helen mounted the steps of the smoker at nearby Lawndale today, she expected only to be greeted by Kay. Instead she was ushered into the car by the conductor, Charles H. Goodnow.

Union Turns Down Big 3's New Proposal

Raises The Possibility
Of Strike Of 650,000
Workers In Industry

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—A deadlock developed today between the Big Three steel firms and the United Steelworkers of America in negotiations on a new contract.

The union rejected wage and other proposals by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic as "entirely inadequate."

Big Three spokesmen replied that to meet the union demands would "touch off another ruinous round of inflation and undermine the business of companies."

The impasse appeared to knock out previously expressed hopes by both union and management for an early settlement.

Possibility Of Strike

It also raised the possibility of a strike by the 650,000 workers in the basic steel industry when present contracts expire June 30.

However, the two sides will continue to meet. Four-man negotiating teams representing management and the union will get together tomorrow at 10 a.m.

The Big Three proposed a five-year, no-strike contract calling for annual wage increases for each of the next five years; a layoff pay program, four per cent extra pay for Sunday work, and other benefits.

David J. McDonald, union president, blasted the wage offer as "picaresque" and the other benefits as inadequate.

He said the companies offered a direct wage increase of six cents an hour, plus minor adjustments for skilled employees, but that employees would have to pay 1½ cents an hour more for insurance.

The industry's wage offer, therefore, would result in a take-home pay increase to the average steelworker this year of about "a nickel an hour—about two per cent," he said, adding:

Mortgage Future

"To get this trifling two per cent wage increase, the steelworkers would be required to mortgage an unpredictable future by agreeing now to settle their fate and that of their families for a similar wage settlement each year of a five-year term."

On this point, the Big Three asserted:

"The three companies' proposal would increase their labor costs by the end of the five-year period by more than 65 cents per hour worked; and of this sum, 17-23 cents an hour per employee would be effective this year."

The companies held that the steelworkers' proposals, if accepted, would increase employment costs immediately by about 25 per cent.

Conference Delayed
By Ike's Illness

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—The Inter-American conference in Panama has been postponed, in the hope of picking a new date when President Eisenhower can attend.

Eisenhower, up to the time he became ill a week ago, had planned to take part in a meeting of American presidents June 25-26, the closing feature of the session scheduled to begin June 22.

Selection of a new time for the meeting was left to the general committee of the Council of the Organization of American States.

Haiti Requests Asylum For Six Argentine Rebels

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, June 15 (AP)—The Haitian Embassy announced today it has asked the Argentine Foreign Ministry to give Gen. Raul Tanco and six other rebels safe conduct permits to flee Argentina.

Tanco, a leader of the unsuccessful rebellion of ex-President Juan D. Peron's followers last Sunday, took refuge yesterday in Haiti's Embassy in a Buenos Aires suburb and was joined by six other rebels against the government of President Pedro Aramburu.

Their asylum was interrupted last night when 20 armed men stormed the Embassy and carried them away to be turned over to the army.

Haitian Ambassador Jean Briere's angry protests against this breach of South America's traditional right of political asylum brought the release of Tanco and his companions within 4½ hours. They returned to their quarters in an apartment above the embassy garage.

Aramburu ruled that Tanco was guilty only of political crimes and was entitled to asylum. Briere said he had been assured the 20 kidnapers who violated the diplomatic immunity of the embassy, terrifying the ambassador's family and servants, would be caught and punished.

The request for safe conduct permits was made when Briere first informed the Foreign Ministry that Tanco and the others were under his protection, Haitian Secretary Franck Paul said.

Paul said neither Tanco, who was slated to become Argentina's vice president if the rebellion had succeeded, nor the other refugees had yet said in what country they would seek asylum if they are allowed to leave Argentina. Peron is living in Panama.

Girls' Bodies Are Identified

RICHMOND, Va., June 15 (AP)—The body of a slain Maryland teenager found Thursday in a Northern Virginia stream was identified positively tonight as that of Shelby Jean Venable.

Dr. Geoffrey Mann, Virginia's chief medical examiner, said the identification was made by the girl's parents who motored here today from their home at North Laurel, Md.

Shelby Jean's body was found stripped of clothing and face down in Catocin Creek, Loudoun County, about 10 miles from where the body of her friend, Mary Elizabeth Fellers, was discovered last Saturday.

Dr. Mann said he had not completed his medical examination of Shelby Jean's body, but he and his assistants were "working on the angle" she may have been raped.

He added, however, the body had degenerated to such an extent it might be difficult to determine the cause of death. Dr. Mann said he hoped to have his report complete by sometime tomorrow when he would transmit his findings to Loudoun County police.

At Frederick, Md., State Police Capt. Charles W. Magaha said that "all checks remove the remotest doubt" that the first body located in the Potomac River at Brunswick, Md. was that of the Fellers girl.

He said there were 21 similarities on which the identification was based. Among other things, nail polish on the body's finger and toenails matched that found in the girl's room at home; the bobby pins were identical; and hair on the head matched that picked up at the home.

The tests were made by the FBI.

State's Fourth Drowning Victim

DUNDALK, Md., June 15 (AP)—A 16-year-old girl became the fourth Maryland drowning victim in three days today as parts of the State continued in the grip of 90-degree temperatures for the fourth straight day.

The girl who drowned today was identified by Police as Carol Lee Burdine, who they said left Merritt Point Beach near here to swim to a barge in the middle of Bear Creek.

Two other girls, Patricia Carasine and Betty Bushick, both 17, who attempted the swim with her, noticed she was missing after they arrived at the barge. Carol Lee's body was recovered beneath the barge's ladder by another swimmer, John Goodman, 23.

Jet Pilot Dies When Parachute Fails To Open

MELROSE, N. M., June 15 (INS)—A 24-year-old air force pilot was killed today when he bailed out of a disabled jet plane over the Melrose firing range of Clovis, N. M. Air Force Base.

Air Force spokesmen said Lt. John Kiffer of Sandusky, Ohio, plunged to his death near Melrose when his parachute failed to open at an altitude of 1,000 feet.

The plane, a F-86 fighter bomber, crashed and burned.

Kiffer was flying the No. 2 plane in a flight of three making passes on the firing range. He leaves his widow, who has been living in Clovis.

Vessel Tips Over, 2 Drown

FRONT ROYAL, Va., June 15 (AP)—An outing on the Shenandoah River ended in tragedy last night when a small boat with six persons aboard tipped over in 12 feet of water.

Two persons aboard drowned. The other four made it safely to shore.

The vessel, powered by an outboard motor, was turning in toward a beach near Cedarville when it overturned. "Apparently all six were on the same side of the boat and their weight caused it to overturn," said State Trooper Harry S. Will, who supervised a successful all night search for the two bodies.

Victims of the accident were identified as Polly Altizer, about 22, of Winchester, a non-swimmer, and Douglas Zeiler, about 25, of Warren County, described as a poor swimmer.

Mrs. Warren L. Coffey, about 23, of Winchester, and Robert E. Rickard, about 25, of Front Royal, clung to the overturned boat while Mrs. Coffey's husband carried Beulah Eaton, about 23, of Winchester, to shore.

Then Coffey, a Winchester restaurant operator, paddled back out in a boat to bring in his wife and Rickard. Mrs. Coffey hung on to a flashlight when the boat flipped over. That enabled her husband to spot her and Rickard on the return trip.

All four survivors were reported in good condition. Front Royal Police Chief Charles A. Menefee said the group had been on the river since afternoon. He said the drownings occurred about 50 feet off shore in "12 feet of pretty swift water" with a rocky bottom.

Old Battleship Never Fired Shot, Headed For Scrap

BALTIMORE, June 15 (AP)—The old battleship U. S. S. Prairie State, which never fired a shot in action in her 55 years of existence, was headed for the scrap heap today.

The former U. S. S. Illinois, sold to the Bethlehem Steel Co. for $278,000, will be turned into steel plate for tankers and other naval vessels.

The ship was used to train about 10,000 naval reserve ensigns in World War II.

Commissioned in 1901, the ship sailed around the world from 1907-09 to demonstrate U. S. might. She has been used as a training ship since 1924. Her name was changed when a new Illinois was commissioned.

Polio Booster Shots Urged For Children

BALTIMORE, June 15 (AP)—Maryland parents are being urged to get children the third or booster anti-polio shot.

Health officials said a check indicates the vaccine supply is such that on a state-wide basis nearly everyone eligible and seeking the inoculations are able to get them.

The announcement came in a joint statement by the state and Baltimore health departments.

Dr. Huntington Williams of the Baltimore department, said health officials are recommending that booster shots be given children where the required six to seven months has elapsed since the second inoculation.

He strongly recommended that children who have had no shots be given them.

The eligible age group is 1 to 15 years inclusive.

Slaying Hearing To Be Postponed

Unidentified Sub Sighted In Baltic

Capital Transit Sold To Chicago Firm By Wolfson

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—Capital Transit Co., controlled by financier Louis E. Wolfson, today sold Washington's bus and street car system to National City Lines, Inc., of Chicago for $13,440,000.

The deal is subject to approval by Congress.

If it goes through, Wolfson would end a controversial seven years in the capital's transit picture with an estimated 320 per cent profit on the $2,200,000 he and associates originally invested.

Congress gets into the situation because the franchise for transit service in the District of Columbia is covered by federal law.

Capital Transit Co., at least the Wolfson group's interest in it, had been scheduled to go out of business Aug. 14. Congress terminated the company's franchise as of that date in legislation passed during a 52-day strike by motormen, drivers and mechanics last summer.

In recent weeks Congress has debated whether to set up a public transit authority, restore the permit to Capital Transit Co., or give it to some other concern.

National City Lines, which bought Capital Transit, operates transit systems in 44 cities, including Philadelphia, Baltimore, Los Angeles and St. Louis. It gave Wolfson's interests a $250,000 deposit toward the purchase but conditioned the deal on action by Congress and new operating arrangements with the District of Columbia commissioners.

A National City spokesman in Chicago declined to discuss what provisions were sought, but it was understood the company wanted the same sort of tax consideration that would apply to a municipal, or public, ownership.

For capital operations, National City plans to set up a new subsidiary called Washington Transit Lines.

Last summer's Capital Transit strike was one of the longest big city transit walkouts ever to hit the country.

President Eisenhower, in signing the measure revoking the company's franchise, expressed reluctance to settle disputes in such a way but said Congress and the District commissioners had concluded Capital Transit "failed to measure up to its responsibilities as a public utility."

TWUA Accepts Roanoke Pact

ROANOKE, Va., June 15 (AP)—The necessary four-of-seven locals of Textile Workers Union of America have accepted a new contract with American Viscose Corp., J. G. Ails, business agent for Roanoke Local 11, said today.

Ails was a member of the committee which negotiated the new pact.

The locals at Lewistown and Marcus Hook, Pa., and at Roanoke and Front Royal have voted for the contract, Ails said. He did not have a report from the locals at Nitro and Parkersburg, W. Va., or Fredericksburg, Va.

The contract calls for a four per cent wage increase effective as of June 1, 1957. It averages 8.5 cents an hour. It also calls for a pension plan amendment worth 11 cents an hour, plus disability and sickness benefit improvements. The pension amendment is retroactive to Jan. 1.

Twenty-two hundred Avisco employees at Roanoke are affected. The average wage will go up to $1.86 an hour next year. The contract is for three years.

The contract was approved by the negotiators in Washington over the weekend, but to be effective all TWUA contracts with Avisco must be approved by a majority of the seven local union chapters affected.

Board Of Education To Rent Schools

TOWSON, Md., Jan. 15 (AP)—The Baltimore County Board of Education is considering a plan under which private capital would put up buildings to be rented out as schools and which could later be converted into apartments or offices.

The school board would rent the buildings for about $1,000 a year. They would be converted to other uses when there no longer is an acute shortage of classroom space.

Edward C. Stapleton, school superintendent, said a similar plan in other states had helped materially in relieving overcrowded schools.

Jurors Acquit

Iam C. Walsh, both of this city and Theodore C. Waters Jr., Baltimore, represented McGeady.

Walsh reminded the jurors that there were a number of ways in which some other employee at the bank could have placed the checks in question in with McGeady's work record and removed the cash from his drawer. He was in charge of the bad check items and other employees often came to his window during his absence for lunch without arousing suspicion.

McGeady, who also was in charge of supplies, left his window on occasions to get supplies for other tellers, and did not lock his cash drawer then.

Disputes Figures
The elder Walsh disputed certain figures presented by the government to show that McGeady spent more than he earned. He submitted a list which indicated that the defendant took in about $250 more than he spent.

Last to argue to the jury was John H. Somerville, assistant U.S. district attorney and a native of this city. He contended that McGeady was caught before he could destroy all of the bank records on the days when the bogus checks were cashed because Miss Clementine Lewis, secretary to White, came to get the latter's account balanced last August 5, the day that the defendant was to start on his vacation. Somerville said that the former teller had to work fast and was not able to get all of the work records.

Members of the jury besides Fox and Wilson were Harry B. Wright, Cresaptown; Francis C. Rohman, John E. Woodard, Joseph H. Welsh, Robert W. Haines, John L. Ort, George L. Kline and George F. Zufall, all of this city; John J. Byrnes, Eckhart, and Lem E. Kirk, Hancock.

New Twist Found In Frogman Death

PARIS, June 15 (AP)—A mysterious new twist in the case of missing British frogman Lionel Crabb turned up today with disclosure by a titled Briton that Crabb had written him on the day he disappeared.

Crabb disappeared April 19, presumably while diving in Portsmouth near the Soviet cruiser Ordzhukidze which had brought Nikita Khrushchev and Nikolai Bulganin on their official visit to Britain.

Haiti Requests Asylum For Six Argentine Rebels

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, June 15 (AP)—The Haitian Embassy announced today it has asked the Argentine Foreign Ministry to give Gen. Raul Tanco and six other rebels safe conduct permits to flee Argentina.

Tanco, a leader of the unsuccessful rebellion of ex-President Juan D. Peron's followers last Sunday, took refuge yesterday in Haiti's Embassy in a Buenos Aires suburb and was joined by six other rebels against the government of President Pedro Aramburu.

Their asylum was interrupted last night when 20 armed men stormed the Embassy and carried them away to be turned over to the army.

Haitian Ambassador Jean Briere's angry protests against this breach of South America's traditional right of political asylum brought the release of Tanco and his companions within 4½ hours. They returned to their quarters in an apartment above the embassy garage.

Aramburu ruled that Tanco was guilty only of political crimes and was entitled to asylum. Briere said he had been assured the 20 kidnapers who violated the diplomatic immunity of the embassy, terrifying the ambassador's family and servants, would be caught and punished.

The request for safe conduct permits was made when Briere first informed the Foreign Ministry that Tanco and the others were under his protection, Haitian Secretary Francis Paul said.

Paul said neither Tanco, who was slated to become Argentina's vice president if the rebellion had succeeded, nor the other refugees had yet said in what country they would seek asylum if they are allowed to leave Argentina. Peron is living in Panama.

Girls' Bodies Are Identified

RICHMOND, Va., June 15 (AP)—The body of a slain Maryland teenager found Thursday in a Northern Virginia stream was identified positively tonight as that of Shelby Jean Venable.

Dr. Geoffrey Mann, Virginia's chief medical examiner, said the identification was made by the girl's parents who motored here today from their home at North Laurel, Md.

Shelby Jean's body was found stripped of clothing and face down in Catocin Creek, Loudoun County, about 10 miles from where the body of her friend, Mary Elizabeth Fellers, was discovered last Saturday.

Dr. Mann said he had not completed his medical examination of Shelby Jean's body, but he and his assistants were "working on the angle" she may have been raped.

He added, however, the body had degenerated to such an extent it might be difficult to determine the cause of death. Dr. Mann said he hoped to have his report complete by sometime tomorrow when he would transmit his findings to Loudoun County police.

At Frederick, Md., State Police Capt. Charles W. Magaha said that "all checks remove the remotest doubt" that the first body located in the Potomac River at Brunswick, Md. was that of the Fellers girl.

He said there were 21 similarities on which the identification was based. Among other things, nail polish on the body's finger and toenails matched that found in the girl's room at home; the bobby pins were identical; and hair on the head matched that picked up at the home.

The tests were made by the FBI.

State's Fourth Drowning Victim

DUNDALK, Md., June 15 (AP)—A 16-year-old girl became the fourth Maryland drowning victim in three days today as parts of the State continued in the grip of 90-degree temperatures for the fourth straight day.

The girl who drowned today was identified by Police as Carol Lee Burdine, who they said left Merritt Point Beach near here to swim to a barge in the middle of Bear Creek.

Two other girls, Patricia Carasine and Betty Bushick, both 17, who attempted the swim with her, noticed she was missing after they arrived at the barge. Carol Lee's body was recovered beneath the barge's ladder by another swimmer, John Goodman, 23.

Jet Pilot Dies When Parachute Fails To Open

MELROSE, N. M., June 15 (INS)—A 24-year-old air force pilot was killed today when he bailed out of a disabled jet plane over the Melrose firing range of Clovis, N. M. Air Force Base.

Air Force spokesman said Lt. John Kiffer of Sandusky, Ohio, plunged to his death near Melrose when his parachute failed to open at an altitude of 1,000 feet.

The plane, a F-86 fighter bomber, crashed and burned.

Kiffer was flying the No. 2 plane in a flight of three making passes on the firing range. He leaves his widow, who has been living in Clovis.

Vessel Tips Over, 2 Drown

FRONT ROYAL, Va., June 15 (AP)—An outing on the Shenandoah River ended in tragedy last night when a small boat with six persons aboard tipped over in 12 feet of water.

Two persons aboard drowned. The other four made it safely to shore.

The vessel, powered by an outboard motor, was turning in toward a beach near Cedarville when it overturned. "Apparently all six were on the same side of the boat and their weight caused it to overturn," said State Trooper Harry S. Will, who supervised a successful all night search for the two bodies.

Victims of the accident were identified as Polly Altizer, about 22, of Winchester, a non-swimmer, and Douglas Zeiler, about 25, of Warren County, described as a poor swimmer.

Mrs. Warren L. Coffey, about 23, of Winchester, and Robert E. Rickard, about 25, of Front Royal, clung to the overturned boat while Mrs. Coffey's husband carried Beulah Eaton, about 23, of Winchester to shore.

Then Coffey, a Winchester restaurant operator, paddled back out in a boat to bring in his wife and Rickard. Mrs. Coffey hung on to a flashlight when the boat flipped over. That enabled her husband to spot her and Rickard on the return trip.

All four survivors were reported in good condition. Front Royal Police Chief Charles A. Menefee said the group had been on the river since afternoon. He said the drownings occurred about 50 feet off shore in "12 feet of pretty swift water" with a rocky bottom.

Old Battleship Never Fired Shot, Headed For Scrap

BALTIMORE, June 15 (AP)—The old battleship U. S. S. Prairie Star, which never fired a shot in action in her 55 years of existence, was headed for the scrap heap today.

The former U. S. S. Illinois, sold to the Bethlehem Steel Co. for $278,000, will be turned into steel plate for tankers and other naval vessels.

The ship was used to train about 10,000 naval reserve ensigns in World War II.

Commissioned in 1901, the ship sailed around the world from 1907-09 to demonstrate U. S. might. She has been used as a training ship since 1924. Her name was changed when a new Illinois was commissioned.

Polio Booster Shots Urged For Children

BALTIMORE, June 15 (AP)—Maryland parents are being urged to get children the third or booster anti-polio shot.

Health officials said a check indicates the vaccine supply is such that on a state-wide basis nearly everyone eligible and seeking the inoculations are able to get them.

The announcement came in a joint statement by the state and Baltimore health departments.

Dr. Huntington Williams of the Baltimore department, said health officials are recommending that booster shots be given children where the required six to seven months has elapsed since the second inoculation.

He strongly recommended that children who have had no shots be given them.

The eligible age group is 1 to 15 years inclusive.

Slaying Hearing To Be Postponed

BALTIMORE, June 15 (AP)—Baltimore County State's Attorney John E. Raine Jr., said today the preliminary hearing for Carl Daniel Kier, charged with slaying Mrs. John H. Bopst Jr., will probably be postponed.

Unidentified Sub Sighted In Baltic

Capital Transit Sold To Chicago Firm By Wolfson

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—Capital Transit Co., controlled by financier Louis E. Wolfson, today sold Washington's bus and street car system to National City Lines, Inc., of Chicago for $13,440,000.

The deal is subject to approval by Congress.

If it goes through, Wolfson would end a controversial seven years in the capital's transit picture with an estimated 320 per cent profit on the $2,200,000 he and associates originally invested.

Congress gets into the situation because the franchise for transit service in the District of Columbia is covered by federal law.

National City Lines, which bought Capital Transit, operates transit systems in 44 cities, including Philadelphia, Baltimore, Los Angeles and St. Louis. It gave Wolfson's interests a $250,000 deposit toward the purchase but conditioned the deal on action by Congress and new operating arrangements with the District of Columbia commissioners.

A National City spokesman in Chicago declined to discuss what provisions were sought, but it was understood the company wanted the same sort of tax consideration that would apply to a municipal, or public, ownership.

For capital operations, National City plans to set up a new subsidiary called Washington Transit Lines.

Last summer's Capital Transit strike was one of the longest city transit walkouts ever to hit the country.

President Eisenhower, in signing the measure revoking the company's franchise, expressed reluctance to settle disputes in such a way but said Congress and the District commissioners had concluded Capital Transit "failed to measure up to its responsibilities as a public utility."

TWUA Accepts Roanoke Pact

ROANOKE, Va., June 15 (AP)—The necessary four-of-seven locals of Textile Workers Union of America have accepted a new contract with American Viscose Corp., J. G. Ails, business agent for Roanoke Local 11, said today.

Ails was a member of the committee which negotiated the new pact.

The locals at Lewistown and Marcus Hook, Pa., and at Roanoke and Front Royal have voted for the contract, Ails said. He did not have a report from the locals at Nitro and Parkersburg, W. Va., or Fredericksburg, Va.

The contract calls for a four per cent wage increase effective as of June 1, 1957. It averages 8.5 cents an hour. It also calls for a pension plan amendment worth 11 cents an hour, plus disability and sickness benefit improvements. The pension amendment is retroactive to Jan. 1.

Twenty-two hundred Avisco employees at Roanoke are affected. The average wage will go up to $1.86 an hour next year. The contract is for three years.

The contract was approved by the negotiators in Washington over the weekend, but to be effective all TWUA contracts with Avisco must be approved by a majority of the seven local union chapters affected.

Board Of Education To Rent Schools

TOWSON, Md., Jan. 15 (AP)—The Baltimore County Board of Education is considering a plan under which private capital would put up buildings to be rented out as schools and which could later be converted into apartments or offices.

The school board would rent the buildings for about $1,000 a year. They would be converted to other uses when there no longer is an acute shortage of classroom space. Edward C. Stapleton, school superintendent, said a similar plan in other states had helped materially in relieving overcrowded schools.

Jurors Acquit

Walsh reminded the jurors that there were a number of ways in which some other employee at the bank could have placed the checks in question in McGeady's work record and removed the cash from his drawer. He was in charge of the bad check items and other employees often came to his window during his absence for lunch without arousing suspicion.

McGeady, who also was in charge of supplies, left his window on occasions to get supplies for other tellers, and did not lock his cash drawer then.

Disputes Figures

The elder Walsh disputed certain figures presented by the government to show that McGeady spent more than he earned. He submitted a list which indicated that the defendant took in about $250 more than he spent.

Last to argue to the jury was John H. Somerville, assistant U.S. district attorney and a native of this city. He contended that McGeady was caught before he could destroy all of the bank records on the days when the bogus checks were cashed because Miss Clementine Lewis, secretary to White, came to get the latter's account balanced last August 5, the day that the defendant was to start on his vacation. Somerville said that the former teller had to work fast and was not able to get all of the work records.

Members of the jury besides Fox and Wilson were Harry B. Wright, Cresapstown; Francis C. Rohman, John E. Woodyard, Joseph H. Welsh, Robert W. Haines, John L. Ort, George L. Kline and George F. Zufall, all of this city; John J. Byrnes, Eckhart, and Lem E. Kirk, Hancock.

Mrs. John Robb, regent, presided. Miss Ruth Clauson introduced a guest, Mrs. James Burch, regent of Thomasville, Ga., Chapter, DAR, who is a descendant of Rev. Hayes, a Presbyterian minister in Cumberland about 1814. The meeting opened with prayer by Mrs. John Findly, and the flag salute by Mrs. Marshall Miller, who also read the president general's message from the DAR magazine. The report on the National Congress of DAR was given by Miss Clauson.

A comprehensive talk on the American Flag was given by John M. Robb. Beginning with the "Rattlesnake" flag with the inscription, "Don't Tread on Me" he traced it through the "Pine Tree" flag, "Grand Union," the flag made June 4, 1777 with 13 stars and 13 stripes; the one made by Mary Pickersville in Baltimore, and flown over Fort Mifflin which inspired the writing of "The Star Spangled Banner," and now is in the Smithsonian Institution; and the pre-1818 flag with 13 stripes and a star for each state. The speaker pointed out it thus is a growing emblem as a star is added June 4 following the admission of a state to the union.

A social hour followed with refreshments served. Miss Ann Thompson presided at the punch-bowl, assisted by Miss Mary Brengle and Mrs. Guy Brengle. Others attending were Mrs. Arthur Fowler, Mrs. R. G. VanNewkirk, Mrs. Lawrence Nugent, Mrs. Arch Hutcheson, Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Wylie Faw, Miss Ella Hodgson, Miss Lloyd and Miss Lydia Millman.

Society Discusses Budget

The most unusual case for the month of the Travelers Aid Society, Mrs. Nora Fleming reported, was the appearance of a family of 11 on her reception porch. If this has never happened to you no words can describe the awful finality of an umpire's decision. It falls like a sentence of death on a boy's heroic dream. And with it ebbs out the joy of his mightiest hit, and of the fly he caught last inning. But thus baseball helps to build men. A fellow learns how to lose. And that's the first step in learning how to win. But the biggest lessons of life no sport can teach. On a higher tier than sportsmanship, teamwork and the desire to win are FAITH, BROTHERHOOD, AND DEDICATION OF LIFE. These are the ingredients of spiritual victory—the fabric of God-inspired manhood at its best. We can rightly be proud of our sand-lots and Little Leagues. But the character of American manhood depends most of all on our churches.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

YER OUT!

If this has never happened to you no words can describe the awful finality of an umpire's decision. It falls like a sentence of death on a boy's heroic dream. And with it ebbs out the joy of his mightiest hit, and of the fly he caught last inning.

But thus baseball helps to build men. A fellow learns how to lose. And that's the first step in learning how to win.

But the biggest lessons of life no sport can teach. On a higher tier than sportsmanship, teamwork and the desire to win are FAITH, BROTHERHOOD, AND DEDICATION OF LIFE. These are the ingredients of spiritual victory—the fabric of God-inspired manhood at its best.

We can rightly be proud of our sand-lots and Little Leagues. But the character of American manhood depends most of all on our churches.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Thirty-Minute Meters In Use At Frostburg

Police To Enforce All Parking Laws

FROSTBURG—New traffic lines have been painted on the Main Street intersections in the past week and a number of parking meters on Main Street between Main and Mechanic Street are being replaced with 30-minute meters. These meters will be in operation from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. on week days; from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Saturdays; and will not operate on Sundays and holidays.

Meters are being placed on the left side of Depot Street. The South Side of Main Street between Bowers and Grant Street has been made a limited parking zone. Chief Lloyd Truly states that all restricted parking zones are effective on a 24-hour basis; and violation tickets will be issued accordingly.

Police Commissioner G. Franklin Martens says there have been a number of violators who have ignored the traffic tickets issued them. Letters will be mailed to these persons next week, and if the letters are also ignored, the offenders will be issued a court summons and will be required to pay court costs in addition to their fines.

Mayor Joseph James noted that the Gerson property on Bowers Street which was torn down recently as a health hazard, is now as much of a hazard as before. The foundation has filled with rainwater and is a breeding place for mosquitos and vermin. James instructed the city clerk to write the administrator of the estate, requesting him to have the place cleaned up and made safe at an early date.

Acting upon a request which has been tabled since the last meeting of the council, a contribution of $100 was given to Frostburg Community programs to help defray the expenses of conducting the present season's business.

The clerk was also asked to contact proper officials, and ascertain whether a date has been set for the widening and resurfacing of Bowers Street. The officials of the city hope this project can be completed before bad weather in the fall.

Council Aims Big Main Leak At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — The Mayor and Council, at a meeting in the City Hall Thursday night, aired suggestions of firemen about the advisability of extending the large 16-inch water main which now terminates at High Street. It has been suggested, according to William Eberly, water commissioner, that the big line, be extended into the heart of the town. He stated the reason the main was not used to supply homes in the west end of town is because it had developed a bad leak.

James Kenney and Charles Hayes, former employee of the city in the Water Department; Peter Kenney, superintendent of the department, and Melvin Lemert, filtration plant engineer, were present at the request of Eberly. The matter of the line was thoroughly discussed. At some places it was noted this line passes through heavy shale and is buried deep under the surface, making the detection of a leak difficult.

It was decided that a meter be placed in operation on this 16-inch line at the filtration plant and checked carefully to ascertain how bad the leak is. Then an employee with an electric leak detector will take soundings at each exposed valve or water tap in order to trace down the existing leak. It was also pointed out that it may then be necessary to dig up a section of the pipe to further localize the trouble.

After this has been accomplished, the council agreed, the line should be extended to Broadway and feeder lines of a suitable size be placed where necessary to increase the supply of water to those sections now on a restricted supply due to small supply lines.

Drive On Stray Pets To Begin Next Week

FROSTBURG — Police Commissioner Franklin Martens states that the drive to eliminate the stray dog and cat nuisance in the city will begin next week.

All preliminary arrangements are completed, and the actual pick up of stray animals is scheduled for Monday.

Martens said that the dog catcher will not enter private property to pick up the animals, but has been instructed to bring in every animal found running loose on the streets or highways. If the dog has an identification tag, giving his owner's address, the owner will be notified at once and may secure the animal by paying a pick up fee of 50 cents and the amount spent for care of the animal while in custody.

If the dog carries no identification, it will be kept in the pound for 48 hours and destroyed. If the animal appears to be well kept or valuable it may be advertised in the local papers by the police, in which case the owner will also be required to pay for such advertisement.

West Virginia Field Day Set At Wardensville

WARDENSVILLE—Plans for the Agronomy Day program to be held at the Reymann Memorial Experimental Farms at Wardensville on Friday afternoon, June 22, have been completed.

Dr. Collins Veatch, Associate Agronomist of the WVU Agricultural Experiment Station, made the announcement at Morgantown, and added that Agronomy Day is conducted each year so that farmers and other interested persons may visit the farm and observe the results of experimental plantings, treatments, and practices. Experiment Station researchers who are working with the experimental plots will be on hand to explain their projects, and to answer questions regarding problems in agronomy.

Ten research projects will be featured in the Agronomy Day program. Visitors will tour the research plots and see experiments dealing with anhydrous ammonia applications on pasture; preplant applications of anhydrous ammonia on corn; deep-tillage applications of fertilizer for corn; rates of seeding corn; supplemental irrigation with small grains; variety trials with spring oats, clover varieties, barley, winter wheat, winter oats, and corn hybrids.

The program will begin with a welcome by C. J. Cunningham, superintendent of the Reymann Memorial Experimental Farms. Dr. Harry R. Varney, director of the University's Agricultural Experiment Station, will discuss agricultural research, and Dr. G. Gordon Pohlman, Experiment Station Agronomist, will introduce visitors and discuss research in agronomy. Veatch said that variety trials with clover will be of special interest to many farmers, because some of the varieties have been developed from plants selected from fields growing in the South Branch Valley. The more promising of these locally developed clovers are yielding as well as Penscott and Kenland, the standard varieties with which the experimental plants are being compared.

took a cab to the apartment of Ralph A. McKee, 42-year-old interior decorator.

After several drinks, Burnett testified, Bailey made improper advances to him and a struggle followed. Burnett said Bailey seized him in a painful manner and told the jury he had to choke Bailey to make him let go.

He said Bailey was alive when he left the apartment, after ransacking it "because I was mad." States Atty. Alger Y. Barbee contended the death occurred during a robbery and under Maryland law was first degree murder.

Police To Enforce All Parking Laws

FROSTBURG—New traffic lines have been painted on the Main Street intersections in the past week and a number of parking meters on Main Street between Main and Mechanic Street are being replaced with 30-minute meters. These meters will be in operation from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. on week days; from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Saturdays; and will not operate on Sundays and holidays.

Meters are being placed on the left side of Depot Street. The South Side of Main Street between Bowery and Grant Street has been made a limited parking zone. Chief Lloyd Truly states that all restricted parking zones are effective on a 24-hour basis; and violation tickets will be issued accordingly.

Police Commissioner G. Franklin Martens says there have been a number of violators who have ignored the traffic tickets issued them. Letters will be mailed to these persons next week, and if the letters are also ignored, the offenders will be issued a court summons and will be required to pay court costs in addition to their fines.

Mayor Joseph James noted that the Gerson property on Bowery Street which was torn down recently as a health hazard is now as much of a hazard as before. The foundation has filled with rainwater and is a breeding place for mosquitos and vermin. James instructed the city clerk to write the administrator of the estate, requesting him to have the place cleaned up and made safe at an early date.

Acting upon a request which has been tabled since the last meeting of the council, a contribution of $100 was given to Frostburg Community programs to help defray the expenses of conducting the present season's business.

The clerk was also asked to contact proper officials, and ascertain whether a date has been set for the widening and resurfacing of Bowery Street. The officials of the city hope this project can be completed before bad weather in the fall.

Council Airs Big Main Leak At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—The Mayor and Council, at a meeting in the City Hall Thursday night, aired suggestions of firemen about the advisability of extending the large 16-inch water main which now terminates at High Street. It has been suggested, according to William Eberly, water commissioner, that the big line, he extended into the heart of the town. He stated the reason the main was not used to supply homes in the west end of town is because it had developed a bad leak.

James Kenney and Charles Hayes, former employee of the city in the Water Department; Peter Kenney, superintendent of the department, and Melvin Lemert, filtration plant engineer, were present at the request of Eberly. The matter of the line was thoroughly discussed. At some places it was noted this line passes through heavy shale and is buried deep under the surface, making the detection of a leak difficult.

It was decided that a meter be placed in operation on this 16-inch line at the filtration plant and checked carefully to ascertain how bad the leak is. Then an employee will take soundings at each exposed valve or water tap in order to trace down the existing leak. It was also pointed out that it may then be necessary to dig up a section of the pipe to further localize the trouble.

After this has been accomplished, the council agreed, the line should be extended to Broadway and feeder lines of a suitable size be placed where necessary to increase the supply of water to those sections now on a restricted supply due to small supply lines.

Drive On Stray Pets To Begin Next Week

FROSTBURG—Police Commissioner Franklin Martens states that the drive to eliminate the stray dog and cat nuisance in the city will begin next week.

All preliminary arrangements are completed, and the actual pick up of stray animals is scheduled for Monday.

Martens said that the dog catcher will not enter private property to pick up the animals, but has been instructed to bring in every animal found running loose on the streets or highways. If the dog has an identification tag, giving his owner's address, the owner will be notified at once and may secure the animal by paying a pick up fee of 50 cents and the amount spent for care of the animal while in custody.

If the dog carries no identification, he will be kept in the pound for 48 hours and destroyed. If the animal appears to be well kept or valuable it may be advertised in the local papers by the police, in which case the owner will also be required to pay for such advertisement.

WARDENSVILLE—Plans for the Agronomy Day program to be held at the Reymann Memorial Experimental Farms at Wardensville on Friday afternoon, June 22, have been completed.

Dr. Collins Veatch, Associate Agronomist of the WVU Agricultural Experiment Station, made the announcement at Morgantown, and added that Agronomy Day is conducted each year so that farmers and other interested persons may visit the farm and observe the results of experimental plantings, treatments, and practices. Experiment Station researchers who are working with the experimental plots will be on hand to explain their projects, and to answer questions regarding problems in agronomy.

Ten research projects will be featured in the Agronomy Day program. Visitors will tour the research plots and see experiments dealing with anhydrous ammonia applications on pasture; preplant applications of anhydrous ammonia on corn; deep-tillage applications of fertilizer for corn; rates of seeding corn; supplemental irrigation for small grains; variety trials with spring oats, clover varieties, barley, winter wheat, winter oats, and corn hybrids.

The program will begin with a welcome by C. J. Cunningham, superintendent of the Reymann Memorial Experimental Farms. Dr. Harry R. Varney, director of the University's Agricultural Experiment Station, will discuss agricultural research, and Dr. G. Gordon Pohlman, Experiment Station Agronomist, will introduce visitors and discuss research in agronomy.

County Roads Department Under Attack

The County Roads Department was censured yesterday by an irate resident of a county road in Consolidated Village near Frostburg.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kooser appeared before the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to complain of a ditch dug by the roads department that causes a small culvert on her driveway to be filled with gravel and mud after each rain.

Mrs. Kooser said she will do something about removing the ditch if the roads department does not do something about her problem in 30 days.

She charged that "Mr. Chapman is trying to run Georges Creek." Chapman is J. Walker Chapman, supervisor of the roads department.

Commissioner James Orr said he would visit the section to take a look at the drainage problem.

Another resident of the east end of the county said he would furnish the shale and the labor if the county would provide the trucks in which to haul it.

Charles H. Smith said a few truckloads will fix the county road that leads off the Bear Hill Road and goes by the old Twigg cemetery.

WASHINGTON — The Securities and Exchange Commission temporarily blocked the sale of a stock offering by Ribbon Copies Corp. of America, Washington, D. C., for alleged non-compliance with its Regulation "A" governing the sale of small stock issues.

Ribbon Copies Corp. notified the S.E.C. in February 1955, that it planned a public offering of 250,000 shares of its 5-cent-par common stock at $1 a share.

Organized in January 1955, the company proposed to manufacture a mechanical device to permit a typewriter to make several copies simultaneously without the use of sheets of carbon paper.

The S.E.C. charged the concern's offering circular used in the sale of the stock failed to name the principal underwriter of the securities. Moreover, it added, the aggregate value of the offering actually exceeded its $200,000 ceiling on small securities offerings and the offering circular omitted certain material facts.

A hearing will be held upon request, the commission said, on whether its order suspending further sale of the offering should be lifted or made permanent.

June 6 Proves Significant Date

In looking over the marriage license returns, Miss Phyllis Copeland, marriage license clerk at the Court House, noticed that June 6 was a most significant date for a man and woman from Pennsylvania.

Robert Wilman Shriner and Patricia June Kruis, both of Belwood, Pa., were both born on June 6. Miss Copeland discovered that because both had "aged" a year between June 4, when they applied for their license, and June 6 when they got their license. That was the birthday for both, having been born exactly four years apart.

That same day, which was birthday for both, they also were married.

Building Permit Granted By Board

The Zoning Board of Appeals Thursday night approved a building permit sought by John A. Kelly, 702 Hill Top Drive, who submitted an application to the City Engineer's Office to erect a one-story building at an estimated cost of $8,000.

Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, disapproved the application and Kelly appealed to the board for consideration.

The appeal of Hubert L. Gillard, of 422 Valley Street, who is seeking a permit to build a two-story building at 424 Valley Street, was tabled at the meeting in City Hall because Gillard was absent.

The application was referred to the board earlier this month.

Mobile Smithies Outdo Machines

Numerous changes have come to the village smithy since Longfellow immortalized one that stood beneath a chestnut tree.

Blacksmith shops now roll on truck wheels from farm to farm. They offer welding service for farm machinery as well as shoes for horses. Many modern blacksmiths, working descendants of the poet's "friend" and "mighty man," are graduates of technical schools and colleges, the National Geographic Society says.

At Cornell University's Veterinary College, would-be blacksmiths study anatomy of the horse's foot. California State Polytechnic College offers training for smiths, including actual work in the field. Students one year included two taxicab drivers and a bank teller.

The centuries-old horseshoer's trade, though hard hit by the automobile age, still is a vital service. There are growing numbers of thoroughbred racing horses of both saddle and sulky. These, unlike many of America's 4 million remaining farm horses and mules that aren't necessarily shod, must have shoes—and perfect ones.

Only the most adept craftsmen tend the prized horses' feet. At race tracks the horseshoer may arrive in a limousine to fit his highbred clientele with aluminum shoes. Such top-ranking craftsmen carry in their minds the contours of many horses' feet, as distinguished custom tailors remember their clients' measurements.

Trainers and shoers agree that a faulty shoe can trip the ballerina-like balance of a track horse or hunter and spoil the day. At the same time, work on spirited horses is dangerous and many craftsmen shy from it, preferring the calmer do-bins of the farms.

One Virginia horseshoer maintains a schedule of 350 regular farm calls. Another smith travels four states, working only on saddle horses.

Modern smiths disagree over a name for their calling—whether it should be farrier, shoer or blacksmith. By whatever name they go, the blacksmiths' basic work is indispensable: No machine was ever invented that could shoe a horse.

The Chotiner Case

I have never met Murray M. Chotiner, a California lawyer and politician, who has served Earl Warren, William Knowland and Richard Nixon as campaign manager. He was also Tom Dewey's manager in Southern California when Dewey hoped to be nominated for the presidency. In a word, Mr. Chotiner is a professional. Had Chotiner devoted himself entirely to the law and avoided politics, he might have turned himself into a glamorous personality in Beverly Hills, where he has his offices. He could then have handled the marriage and divorce business of his clients and got himself mentioned often as associated with well-advertised women who specialize in matters matrimonial.

Instead Chotiner went in for political management which meant that he was constantly making his own enemies and taking on the enemies of his proteges. He is now involved in a quarrel with some Democrats who are trying to establish the position that Chotiner has been a lawyer for crooks and that therefore Nixon should not be candidate for vice president.

Obviously if a man is a lawyer and is in politics and has clients, most of his clients will be men in trouble. That is the business of a lawyer, to look after men in trouble. If Congress ever reached the state of self-examination and self-criticism, it might see whether the law firms to which members of Congress belong, have no clients who are in trouble of one sort or another. And some of these troubles must be with the government with which many citizens have problems. Had Chotiner not been Nixon's campaign manager, nobody would have been surprised that among his clients were some who are in trouble.

And what is more, nobody would have been surprised that he received a fee of $5,000. Lawyers charge lustily for their services, in or out of court, and a $5,000 fee is not a very big fee as anyone who gets into trouble knows. Lawyers do not have fixed rates but charge what the traffic will bear, which is their right if they can get the customers to pay.

As I say, I have not met Murray M. Chotiner but I have read a statement which he issued to the press and in which he says:

"If they (the committee's counsel) are not playing politics and are sincere in their desire to determine whether lawyers have been using 'influence' in the handling of cases before federal agencies, let them call all lawyers in the United States who have been prominent in political activities, and all lawyers in government, irrespective of party affiliation, who are still associated with law firms handling clients in connection with federal agencies, and ask them the identical questions that have been propounded to me."

This strikes me as a very wholesome proposition although probably impractical because of the large number involved and surely murderous because it might lead to too many suicides. If the rumors one hears about such subjects even approximate the truth, there would have to be some suicides.

Since administrative law has become prevalent, many important matters are handled not in court, before judge and jury, but in the privacy of a bureau conference, or perhaps over a luncheon or dinner table. Administrative law is still a new field and its procedures have not yet jelled and therefore are subject to private judgment as to what is right and what is wrong. Administrative law can, in time, replace the procedures developed under English Common Law which, for three centuries, governed us.

There are many lawyers in Washington who are specialists in administrative law and who know how to appear advantageously to their clients before particular bureaus of government. These specialists do very well as a rule because, to use a local colloquialism, they know their way around. Apparently, Murray Chotiner, as a Republican, knows his way around in this administration and therefore those who required such a lawyer, sought him out, in disregard of distance.

Senator Joe McCarthy was once chairman of the committee which is now investigating Chotiner as a lawyer and a politician. McCarthy was rapped over the knuckles on the ground that he employed unusual and unwarranted methods. Chotiner, in his statement, takes the position that Senator McCarthy's successors are very bad boys. But he does not blame the senators, only their counsel. They are the successors to Roy Cohn.

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Former U.S. Senator Harry Cain of the State of Washington says there have been tragic mistakes made in the handling of the security-risk program and he doubts whether any such program is really needed.

Mistakes, however, in handling dismissals or suspensions of government employees have cropped up from time to time in government procedures, and many of them happened long before the Communist menace developed.

Even Mr. Cain, well-intentioned though he is, has himself made some rather serious mistakes of fact in his crusade to discredit the security-risk program of the government, as he pooh-poos Communist efforts to infiltrate the government here. Doubtless they were unintentional mistakes, but so are the mistakes of the bureaucrats whom he criticizes.

Overlooked Petersen Case
Thus, on May 5 last, Mr. Cain made a speech in New York City before the National Trade Union Conference on Civil Rights. Speaking of the administration's security-risk program, he said:

"In three years of effort, we have found no spies or traitors, saboteurs or Communists in positions of trust. Perhaps they are there but we have not uncovered them with the machinery at our command."

Mr. Cain overlooked the case of Joseph S. Petersen Jr., who is now in jail serving a sentence for having passed on to an agent of a European government some of the most highly confidential codes of the United States government. For nearly five years prior to December 1952 Petersen was doing this and was caught in 1954 only when the Eisenhower administration put through its checking system under the existing security-risk program. Some of the codes stolen were of such a highly important nature that they were not introduced at the trial but were shown in chambers to the judge. Before he was arrested, Mr. Petersen used to write letters to newspapers vehemently protesting that the security-risk program was unfair and unnecessary.

Mr. Cain does not have access to the files of the Department of Justice, so he does not know how many persons who have had bad records of dealing with foreign governments or their agents may have been found and discharged without publicity. Sometimes testimony obtained by state governments and city police bureaus through tapped telephone wires cannot be used as evidence in federal courts and hence prosecutions are not pressed but the employees in question are dismissed.

Another serious error made by former Senator Cain concerns the unfortunate case of the Air Force analyst whom he publicly defended a few weeks ago because there was such a long delay in adjudicating the case by the Air Force. It will be recalled that the analyst, after a long period of suspension, advertised for a job in the classified-advertising columns of a local newspaper and was contacted last February by a member of the Soviet embassy staff in Washington. Promptly the former Air Force employee told his attorney about it and arranged a meeting with the Russian for a few days later. Full information on the interview was relayed to the FBI. But here is what former Senator Cain said about the episode in his May 5 speech:

Didn't "Unbosom" Himself

"The Russian was smart in assuming that he had found his pigeon in an American whose government would not hire him or fire him. The Russian had reason to believe that his intended American prey was not likely to be employed by any other American until our subjects' government had decided what to do with the body."

From the foregoing, it could be inferred that the Air Force analyst unbosomed himself to the Russian and told him all about his status as a suspended security risk. But the Air Force analyst did nothing of the kind. He didn't reveal anything about his own case to the Russian. This information comes from reliable sources in our own government.

Then why does Mr. Cain say "The Russian had reason to believe that his intended American prey was not likely to be employed by any other American until our subject's government had decided what to do with the body?"

The Russian probably didn't know of the American's status or anything about the case because nothing about it had appeared in the press and nothing was said to him by the Air Force analyst, either. Mr. Cain, in his speech, was just a little free in his speculation and probably didn't realize he was embarrassing the man he was defending. For if the Air Force man had been as indiscreet as to advertise in a newspaper for a job and then to tell a stranger—a Russian—about his intimate relations with the Defense Department here, he would hardly have been reinstated later, as he was, even to a "non-sensitive" position in the government.

It must be concluded, therefore, that sometimes the crusaders for civil liberties make mistakes, as do government bureaucrats. In the long run, the Klaus Fuchs, the Alger Hiss and the Petersens are caught because a slow-moving security system is better than none.

Better Coordination Needed

This correspondent wrote at the outset of the present administration that it was a mistake to abandon the type of central review board which the Truman administration had set up. But since that time the Supreme Court has cast doubt on whether any central board would be possible under existing law. A better coordination by departmental boards and security divisions is necessary and should be attainable so as to reduce mistakes to the minimum.

Every year, however, thousands of persons throughout the country are indicted and then acquitted in court trials, but the stigma remains. No way has been devised to avoid this. Government security cases, on the other hand, are never publicized unless the accused, through his attorney, brings the case out in the open to try to get public support, and when this happens the government's side of the case rarely is revealed because it is based on confidential information.

Russian Surgeons, Nurses Work 36-Hour Week

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Men of science are similar the world over. Dr. F. Henry Ellis Jr., of the Mayo Clinic, found Russian surgeons hospitable to him and kind and humane to their patients. Beyond this, their behavior left no doubt that they worked for the state and had no freedom of movement.

Dr. Ellis' story of his experience appears in the February Archives of Surgery. There are 300,000 physicians in Russia, of whom 50 to 60 per cent are women. Medical care is provided by a series of polyclinics and general hospitals. The Russian boy or girl who wants to become a physician takes a competitive examination to enter one of the country's 75 medical schools.

Each school provides training in three branches of medicine and the student chooses which type of training he wishes. Those who take up therapeutics, for example, receive the usual training in medicine, surgery, and other sub-specialties. Students who go to the pediatric school concentrate on maternal and child care, whereas those who graduate from the school of hygiene become public health officials.

The embryonic physician is paid 300 to 600 rubles a month (one ruble equals 25 cents) during his six years as a medical student and intern. After graduation, he is assigned a place to practice for three years. He is not required to go into the armed services because the army has its own medical school.

The medic who wishes to specialize in surgery returns after three years of general practice and spends another three years in a medical center. Men and women who want to teach surgery and become professors take an additional three years of training.

A professor of surgery who reaches the top is well paid. He receives 6,000 to 8,000 rubles a month. One man was reported to have a five room house in the country, a servant, a car, and a driver supplied by the state. His station in life is comparable to that of an industrialist.

Most of the hospitals have no particular name and consist of several institutions. They are dull and unattractive on the outside but light and cheery within. Dr. Ellis says their surgery differs little from ours. They are skilled technicians but handle the tissues more roughly than we do.

Most operations are done under a local anesthetic. One of the surprises of the visiting American surgeon was that physicians and nurses work only six hours a day, six days a week, and they are paid for overtime.

NO EXCEPTIONS

Mrs. D. writes: Can adults develop diphtheria?

REPLY

Yes. No age is immune, although the disease is more common in childhood. In a recent Indiana outbreak, a 63-year-old woman came down with the disease. She had been baby sitting in a family where a child was ill with diphtheria.

TEMPERATURE AND DIET

C. N. writes: Is a low body temperature due to a nutritional deficiency?

REPLY

No, although food acts like fuel and the body temperature may go up slightly after eating.

SCAR REMOVAL

J. S. writes: Is dermabrasion helpful for scars on the arms?

REPLY

Small but not large scars can be treated successfully by this new abrasion method.

BALDNESS "CURE"

F. T. writes: Has there been any follow-up report on the English cure for baldness that received so much publicity?

REPLY

Yes. Three English physicians reported their results in the British Medical Journal. A group of 78 volunteers was divided into 36 controls and 42 patients who were given the product (ironical). There was no change in 32 of the controls and one was worse at the end of the study. Of the men receiving the compound, 39 showed no change and one was worse. The physicians concluded that B-pyridyl-carbinol could not make the hair regrow.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Armed Services Continue Feuding Through Advertising Of Big Firms

not restricted by the Pentagon rules against feuding. Thus the services get the benefit of this indirect publicity without having it charged against their publicity budgets.

Congressman Patterson has obtained a confidential breakdown of how much defense money was spent on armed services advertising in 1954. Here are the amounts some of the biggest defense contractors spent in that year:

United Aircraft Corp., $642,833; Borg-Warner Corp., $515,184; Douglas Aircraft Co., $341,808; Boeing Aircraft Co., $299,425; General Electric, $258,823; Grumman Aircraft Engine Corp., $227,043; Lockheed Aircraft Corp., $179,531; General Dynamics Corp., $174,425; Bell Telephone, $118,885; General Motors, $121,247; Republic Aviation, $144,725.

Since the bulk of business of several of these companies is from the armed services, they probably didn't need much magazine advertising at all.

Hotheaded Mayor

Ex-Congressman Norris Poulson, now mayor of Los Angeles, almost caused an international incident when he got sore at the Mexican consul general in Southern California and accused him of running narcotics across the Mexican border.

It all happened when Mayor Poulson, who can be both genial and hotheaded, asked Consul General Adolfo G. Dominguez to give VIP treatment to Carleton Williams of the Los Angeles Times when the latter visited Mexico City. Somewhere along the line, however, instructions for Williams' VIP treatment got delayed so that he left Mexico City before word arrived that the red carpet was to be rolled out in his honor.

Williams, who has been Poulson's good friend in covering City Hall, reported this oversight to the mayor, who promptly picked up the telephone and bawled out Consul General Dominguez.

"I am sic. and tired," Mayor Poulson told the Mexican consul general, "of giving the red-carpet treatment to so many Mexican officials and then having this happen to a friend of mine."

"And what's more," concluded Poulson, "I think some of you guys have something to do with all the dope that's been coming across the border."

The mayor hung up.

To accuse a Mexican official of smuggling narcotics was an insult that could not be overlooked, and Dominguez made an official report to his government, which, in turn, sent it to Washington. In Washington, however, wise old Ambassador Manuel Tell did not rush down to the State Department with a precipitous protest. Discreetly, he waited—until two friends got the mayor and the consul general together at lunch and made them shake hands.

GOP-Go-Round

One prominent Republican who's grumbling about Ike's physical fitness to run again is Congressman Clarence Brown of Ohio—and he's grumbling only in private. Clarence said that the operation was the last straw and Ike should withdraw from the race.

GOP National Chairman Len Hall is taking an' acting as if Ike's ileitis was no more serious than a simple stomach upset. Preparation for the San Francisco convention are going ahead as scheduled. A Convention Arrangements Committee will be in Washington June 22 to make final preparations.

won't so much as consider the possibility of a contest. . . . At the White House all aides are giving out the same rehearsed line—namely, that Ike took his intestinal condition into consideration when he made his original decision to run; therefore, he should be healthier and more inclined than ever to run. In brief, they argue that Ike is really healthier for having had the operation. There's no explanation for the fact that the President's recent "top-toe" medical examination overlooked his stomach ailment which the White House now says Ike knew he had. . . . White House aides say that the "Ike-is-now-healthier" line was not the brain-child of the BBD & O advertising firm, which advises both the Republican National Committee and the White House on public relations. A couple of BBD & O boys admittedly visited the White House around the time of the President's attack, but White House aides say they had nothing to do with this new theory.

The Vacation Fad

By Brother Barnabas

To vacation or not to vacation, that's the question, whether it's nobler to stick to your task and sweat it out in the torrid heat of summer, or go some place and do something different to get away from the daily grind.

It's nature's law expressed by Moses that man's work days should be interspersed with periods of rest. "Six days you shall labor and do all your work . . . but in the seventh day you shall not do any work" (Exodus 20:9).

Vacations are both physically and economically necessary for all who work. The muscles of the body and the cells of the brain lose their snap if they are under continual tension.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" is a truism acknowledged by all big corporations and is taken into account in all management-labor contracts.

Depends On Circumstances

The kind of vacation one can take depends on such circumstances as whether he is single or has a family, the size of his purse, the time he can afford to be off duty, and other conditions.

It may happen that one can take his vacation in the hospital having his gall-stones removed, thus killing two birds with several stones.

Or, he may combine his vacation with his honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls. This might be disappointing, for while the bride would admit that the Falls were caused by the indisposition of the water to hang over the precipice, she would be more excited if the water flowed upstream, in which case she would have something to write home about.

Lake and ocean front resorts attract many vacationers who divide their time between taking notes on lectures, and boating or swimming or watching alfresco mermaids cavort with the waves.

On the assumption that "the devil never takes a vacation" preachers and priests and rabbis are sanctimoniously exhorted to be on duty round the clock to combat him, especially since he is more active in plush cafe society than at the DEW line within the Arctic Circle where they would like to vacation to escape the torrid heat of summer.

See Your Doctor

For the big shot riveted to his desk with shattered nerves and wheels in his head, knowing that he needs a long rest but can't find time for it, science has provided a substitute in the form of a "tranquizer" which he can obtain at a drug store. These "peace pills," as they are called will have the same effect as one experiences after a long, restful vacation, they say. See your doctor.

Sleep is nature's sweet restorative. Sleeping in is a substitute for a vacation:

Oh, it's nice to get up in the morning
When the sun begins to shine,
At four or five, or six o'clock
In the good old summertime;
But when the dew is dewing
And it's murky overhead,
Oh, it's nice to get up in the morning,
But it's nicer to lie in your bed."

Books are a bonanza in summertime. "Give me a book, a shady nook and a June day, and I will make the pomp of kings ridiculous."

Frances Bacon advised that some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested."

"Why did you give me this book to be read to out of?" asked an idler of a colporteur. "To do you good," he replied. "But I don't want to be done good to."

"Then what do you want?" "I want to be left alone." You are good company if you know how to be alone and enjoy it. But many are miserable with their thoughts unless they can find some one to harangue. Some folks are not aware that they are talking until they stop and then they have forgotten what they said.

If you are traveling and Mr. Talkathon is sitting by your side and you prefer to be alone with your thoughts, just open your satchel and pull out "The Golden Ass" by Apuleius and he will think you are a bibliophile and let you alone.

A certain church pulpit was empty and a committee was appointed to search for a pastor. After many auditions the committee located the man they thought would fill the bill.

Summertime Slip

His personality was pleasing, he had full credentials from the appointive powers, and his educational background was orthodox, and the committee asked him to write a letter of introduction to be read to the congregation.

In describing his family connections he said, "I am a bachelor with two children." That struck the congregation as something unusual and needing to be looked into.

They found that the letter had been dictated but not read before affixing his signature. The stenographer had erred in substituting "bachelor" for "widower," and that was a summertime slip due to the fact that the stenographer had had no vacation.

Happy times to you all while the undersigned is off two weeks on full pay from the editor, says

BROTHER BARNABAS

Mobile Smithies Outdo Machines

Numerous changes have come to the village smithy since Longfellow immortalized one that stood beneath a chestnut tree.

Blacksmith shops now roll on truck wheels from farm to farm. They offer welding service for farm machinery as well as shoes for horses. Many modern blacksmiths, working descendants of the poet's "friend" and "mighty man," are graduates of technical schools and colleges, the National Geographic Society says.

At Cornell University's Veterinary College, would-be blacksmiths study anatomy of the horse's foot. California State Polytechnic College offers training for smiths, including actual work in the field. Students one year included two taxicab drivers and a bank teller.

The centuries-old horseshoer's trade, though hard hit by the automobile age, still is a vital service. There are growing numbers of thoroughbred racing horses of both saddle and sulky. These, unlike many of America's 4 million remaining farm horses and mules that aren't necessarily shod, must have shoes—and perfect ones.

Only the most adept craftsmen tend the prized horses' feet. At race tracks the horseshoer may arrive in a limousine to fit his highbred clientele with aluminum shoes. Such top-ranking craftsmen carry in their minds the contours of many horses' feet, as distinguished custom tailors remember their clients' physical measurements.

Trainers and shoers agree that a faulty shoe can trip the ballerina-like balance of a track horse or hunter and spoil the day. At the same time, work on spirited horses is dangerous and many craftsmen shy from it, preferring the calmer do-bins of the farms.

One Virginia horseshoer maintains a schedule of 350 regular farm calls. Another smith travels four states, working only on saddle horses.

Modern smiths disagree over a name for their calling—whether it should be farrier, shoer or blacksmith. By whatever name they go, the blacksmiths' basic work is indispensable: No machine was ever invented that could shoe a horse.

The Chotiner Case

I have never met Murray M. Chotiner, a California lawyer and politician, who has served Earl Warren, William Knowland and Richard Nixon as campaign manager. He was also Tom Dewey's manager in Southern California when Dewey hoped to be nominated for the presidency. In a word, Mr. Chotiner is a professional. Had Chotiner devoted himself entirely to the law and avoided politics, he might have turned himself into a glamorous personality in Beverly Hills, where he has his offices. He could then have handled the marriage and divorce business of his clients and got himself mentioned often as associated with well-advised women who specialize in matters matrimonial.

Instead Chotiner went in for political management which meant that he was constantly making his own enemies and taking on the enemies of his proteges. He is now involved in a quarrel with some Democrats who are trying to establish the position that Chotiner has been a lawyer for crooks and that therefore Nixon would not be candidate for vice president.

Obviously if a man is a lawyer and is in politics and has clients, most of his clients will be men in trouble. That is the business of a lawyer, to look after men in trouble. If Congress ever reached the state of self-examination and self-criticism, it might see whether the law firms to which members of Congress belong, have no clients who are in trouble of one sort or another. And some of these troubles must be with the government with which many citizens have problems. Had Chotiner not been Nixon's campaign manager, nobody would have been surprised that among his clients were some who are in trouble.

And what is more, nobody would have been surprised that he received a fee of $5,000. Lawyers charge lustily for their services, in or out of court, and a $5,000 fee is not a very big fee as anyone who gets into trouble knows. Lawyers do not have fixed rates but charge what the traffic will bear, which is their right if they can get the customers to pay.

As I say, I have not met Murray M. Chotiner but I have read a statement which he issued to the press and in which he says:

"If they (the committee's counsel) are not playing politics and are sincere in their desire to determine whether lawyers have been using 'influence' in the handling of cases before federal agencies, let them call all lawyers in the United States who have been prominent in political activities, and all lawyers in government, irrespective of party affiliation, who are still associated with law firms handling clients in connection with federal agencies, and ask them the identical questions that have been propounded to me."

This strikes me as a very wholesome proposition although probably impractical because of the large number involved and surely murderous because it might lead to too many suicides. If the rumors one hears about such subjects even approximate the truth, there would have to be some suicides.

Since administrative law has become prevalent, many important matters are handled not in court, before judge and jury, but in the privacy of a bureau conference, or perhaps over a luncheon or dinner table. Administrative law is still a new field and its procedures have not yet jelled and therefore are subject to private judgment as to what is right and what is wrong. Administrative law can, in time, replace the procedures developed under English Common Law which, for three centuries, governed us.

There are many lawyers in Washington who are specialists in administrative law and who know how to appear advantageously to their clients before particular bureaus of government. These specialists do very well as a rule because, to use a local colloquialism, they know their way around. Apparently, Murray Chotiner, as a Republican, knows his way around in this administration and therefore those who required such a lawyer, sought him out, in disregard of distance.

Senator Joe McCarthy was once chairman of the committee which was now investigating Chotiner as a lawyer and a politician. McCarthy was rapped over the knuckles on the ground that he employed unusual and unwarranted methods. Chotiner, in his statement, takes the position that Senator McCarthy's successors are very bad boys. But he does not blame the senators, only their counsel. They are the successors to Roy Cohn.

Armed Services Continue Feuding Through Advertising Of Big Firms

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It has been overlooked in the Pentagon feuding, but the armed services have found a way to get around budget restrictions on publicity. The Army, Navy, and Air Force simply use their contractors to buy advertising for them.

Connecticut's GOP Congressman "Pat" Patterson, a House Armed Services Committee member, has dug up statistics showing that defense contractors spend millions in advertising for the separate services.

The latest available figures show that Air Force contractors spent $2,348,082 in 1954 to plug the Air Force. Navy contractors spent $1,351,606 to advertise the Navy, not counting an additional $335,070 on Marine Corps advertising. The Army got the least out of its contractors—only $248,030 worth of advertising.

This was the amount of money spent for magazine advertising alone and does not include other propaganda costs footed by the contractors. For example, Air Force contractors spend millions more to promote the Air Force through the Air Force Association. Navy contractors also help subsidize the Navy League, which puts out pro-Navy propaganda.

The cost of all this propaganda, of course, comes indirectly from the taxpayers through defense contracts. The contractors actually set aside a portion of their defense profits to buy advertising and openly take sides in the Army-Navy-Air Force feuding.

As private companies, they are not restricted by the Pentagon rules against feuding. Thus the services get the benefit of this indirect publicity without having it charged against their publicity budgets.

To accuse a Mexican official of smuggling narcotics was an insult that could not be overlooked, and Dominguez made an official report to his government, which, in turn, sent it to Washington. In Washington, however, wise old Ambassador Manuel Tell did not rush down to the State Department with a precipitous protest. Discreetly, he waited—until two friends got the mayor and the consul general together at lunch and made them shake hands.

GOP-Go-Round

One prominent Republican who's grumbling about Ike's physical fitness to run again is Congressman Clarence Brown of Ohio—and he's grumbling only in private. Clarence said that the operation was the last straw and Ike should withdraw from the race.

GOP National Chairman Len Hall is talking and acting as if Ike's ileitis was no more serious than a simple stomach upset. Preparation, for the San Francisco convention are going ahead as scheduled. A Convention Arrangements Committee will be in Washington June 22 to make final preparations. "won't so much as consider the possibility of a contest . . . At the White House all aides are giving out the same rehearsed line—namely, that Ike took his intestinal condition into consideration when he made his original decision to run; therefore, he should be healthier and more inclined than ever to run. In brief, they argue that Ike is really healthier 'or having had the operation. There's no explanation for the fact that the President's recent "top-to-toe" medical examination overlooked his stomach ailment which the White House now says Ike knew he had . . . White House aides say that the "Ike-is-now-healthier" line was not the brain-child of the BBD & O advertising firm, which advises both the Republican National Committee and the White House on public relations. A couple of BBD & O boys admittedly visited the White House around the time of the President's attack, but White House aides say they had nothing to do with this new theory.

The Vacation Fad

By Brother Barnabas

To vacation or not to vacation, that's the question, whether it's nobler to stick to your task and sweat it out in the torrid heat of summer, or go some place and do something different to get away from the daily grind.

It's nature's law expressed by Moses that man's work days should be interspersed with periods of rest. "Six days you shall labor and do all your work . . . but in the seventh day you shall not do any work" (Exodus 20:9).

Vacations are both physically and economically necessary for all who work. The muscles of the body and the cells of the brain lose their snap if they are under continual tension.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" is a truism acknowledged by all big corporations and is taken into account in all management-labor contracts.

Depends On Circumstances
The kind of vacation one can take depends on such circumstances as whether he is single or has a family, the size of his purse, the time he can afford to be off duty, and other conditions.

It may happen that one can take his vacation in the hospital having his gall-stones removed, thus killing two birds with several stones.

Or, he may combine his vacation with his honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls. This might be disappointing, for while the bride would admit that the Falls were caused by the indisposition of the water to hang over the precipice, she would be more excited if the water flowed upstream, in which case she would have something to write home about.

Lake and ocean front resorts attract many vacationers who divide their time between taking notes on lectures, and boating or swimming or watching alfresco mermaids cavort with the waves.

On the assumption that "the devil never takes a vacation" preachers and priests and rabbis are sanctimoniously exhorted to be on duty round the clock to combat him, especially since he is more active in plush case society than at the DEW line within the Arctic Circle where they would like to vacation to escape the torrid heat of summer.

See Your Doctor

For the big shot riveted to his desk with shattered nerves and wheels in his head, knowing that he needs a long rest but can't find time for it, science has provided a substitute in the form of a "tranquillizer" which he can obtain at a drug store. These "peace pills," as they are called will have the same effect as one experiences after a long, restful vacation, they say. See your doctor.

Sleep is nature's sweet restor-

ative. Sleeping-in is a substitute for a vacation:

Oh, it's nice to get up in the morning
When the sun begins to shine,
At four or five, or six o'clock
In the good old summertime;
But when the dew is dewing
And it's murky overhead,
Oh, it's nice to get up in the morning,
But it's nicer to lie in your bed."

Books are a bonanza in summertime. "Give me a book, a shady nook and a June day, and I will make the pomp of kings ridiculous."

Frances Bacon advised that some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested."

"Why did you give me this book to be read to out of for?" asked an idler of a colporteur. "To do you good," he replied. "But I don't want to be done good to."

"Then what do you want?" "I want to be left alone." You are good company if you know how to be alone and enjoy it. But many are miserable with their thoughts unless they can find some one to harangue. Some folks are not aware that they are talking until they stop and then they have forgotten what they said.

If you are traveling and Mr. Talkathon is sitting by your side and you prefer to be alone with your thoughts, just open your satchel and pull out "The Golden Ass" by Apuleius and he will think you are a bibliophile and let you alone.

A certain church pulpit was empty and a committee was appointed to search for a pastor. After many auditions the committee located the man they thought would fill the bill.

Summertime Slip
His personality was pleasing, he had full credentials from the appointive powers, and his educational background was orthodox, and the committee asked him to write a letter of introduction to be read to the congregation.

In describing his family connections he said, "I am a bachelor with two children." That struck the congregation as something unusual and needing to be looked into.

They found that the letter had been dictated but not read before affixing his signature. The stenographer had erred in substituting "bachelor" for "widower," and that was a summertime slip due to the fact that the stenographer had had no vacation.

Happy times to you all while the undersigned is off two weeks on full pay from the editor, says

BROTHER BARNABAS

Peter Thomson Leads Hogan By Stroke In National Open

Australian Has 139, Middlecoff, Furgol Among Four At 141

By WILL GRIMSLEY

ROCHESTER, N.Y., June 15 (AP) — Peter Thomson, a nonchalant precisionist from Australia, shot into the halfway lead of the National Open golf tournament with a score of 139 today, and breathing hot on his heels one stroke back was the inevitable "little man," Ben Hogan.

Thomson, winner of the British Open title the last two years, came home with the dusk and a second round 69 some three hours after Hogan had assumed first place with a 72-68—140.

Four Tied At 141

Two former champions, Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Ed Furgol, blew their chances for the lead on the two treacherous finishing holes — Oak Hill's "heartbreak bend." They finished two strokes off the pace at 141 with Jerry Barber, from Los Angeles, and 24-year-old Wesley Ellis, a Texan.

Middlecoff took a triple bogey seven on the par four 17th hole to finish with a 70 for the second round. Furgol, one under par going to the 17th, took a bogey on that hole and then missed a seven-foot putt on the 18th after making a dazzling 180-yard shot to the green from a fairway trap.

The almost forgotten defending champion, Jack Fleck of Davenport, Iowa, winner over Hogan in last year's dramatic playoff at San Francisco, wound up with 76-74—150, which failed to qualify him for tomorrow's finals.

Tied at 142 were the 1952 champion, Julius Boros, Ted Kroll, and Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., a former Amateur champion.

Sam Snead, called the best golfer never to win the U.S. Open, remained in contention—although not in too good a position—with a 71 which left him tied with a handful at 146.

The cutoff point for tomorrow's final rounds was 149, lowest in many years. Outstanding players who failed to make it, besides Fleck, included former champion Lew Worsham, former PGA champion Chick Harbert and Masters champion Jackie Burke.

Burke, with 152, wouldn't have made it even without yesterday's two-stroke penalty for making a score card mistake.

Bob Rosburg Fades

Bob Rosburg, the young pro from Palo Alto, Calif., with the unorthodox baseball grip, faded after pining the first round with a 68. He skied to a 76, taking a double-bogey seven on the par five 13th.

"Dusty" Rhodes hurled Celaneese to an 8-0 triumph over the Cumberland Knights of Columbus in a game yesterday at Campobello.

Rhodes tossed a three-hitter, struck out five and failed to issue a pass. One of the K. of C. hits was a double by Jimmy Collins.

The Silken collected 13 hits, including three safeties by Bobby Nelson and a homer by Bobby Williams.

Legion Junior League Opens 11th Campaign

Cumberland Is Host To Frostburg Today

Opening games of the Mountain District, American Legion Junior Baseball League, are scheduled today.

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, defending champions, will play host to Farrady Post No. 24, of Frostburg, at Penn Avenue Field, while Midland will do battle with Oakland at Midland. Both contests are set for 2 p. m.

This year's four-team league will tackle a schedule of 24 games. Each team will play the three other teams of the circuit four times during the race which ends July 24. Games will be played on Tuesdays at 5:30 and Saturdays at 2 o'clock.

League's 11th Year

This is the eleventh season for the league which was revived following the Second World War.

Fort Cumberland has won six times in the past ten years—1946, 1947, 1949, 1953, 1954 and 1955.

Midland Post was the winner in 1950 and 1952, James P. Love Post, Lonaconing, finished on top in 1948, and Victory Post, Westernport, bagged the title in 1951.

Of special interest to all participants in this year's program is the announcement by national headquarters of the American Legion that 16 players from throughout the United States will be chosen to make a flying, six weeks tour of eight Latin American countries next fall.

Players selected for the tour will be chosen on the basis of their scholastic average, citizenship qualities and playing ability. To be eligible they must have played on an American Legion junior baseball team during the current season and must have graduated from high school prior to July of this year.

Department (state) Legion baseball officials will recommend to National Junior Baseball Commissioner Lou Brissie not later than July 20, one pitcher, one catcher, one infielder and one outfielder. A copy of the player's season record and a list of his high school grades must be submitted with his recommendation.

Backed By State Dept.

The tour has the complete backing of the State Department, which made initial contacts with the Latin American countries for the visit of the junior baseball team.

Teen-age representatives of nearly one million Legion junior baseball participants are scheduled to visit Colombia, Cuba, El Salvador, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Puerto Rico and Venezuela, probably between September 10 and October 20.

If this becomes a yearly project, departments which have had a representative on the team will not be permitted to send another player until every department has had one player on the team.

Three players tied for fourth place, namely, Phil Jenkins 39-5—34; Dr. William Ryan 42-8—34, and Charles Zembower 43-9—34.

Special prizes for par three holes went to Ed Mattingly on No. 1 and Benny LaNeve on No. 6.

Thirty-four players participated in the putting contest in which Alex Buchanan defeated Lester Deeneen, 2 up, in the finals.

Phils Edge Cubs In Opener, 6-5

PHILADELPHIA, June 15 (AP) — Ted Kazanski bunted home a run in the last of the 10th to give the Philadelphia Phillies a come from behind 6-5 win over the Chicago Cubs in the opener of a two-night doubleheader.

The Phils were trailing 4-0 until the seventh when Elmer Valo pinch hit a three-run homer and Jim Greengrass knotted the count with a 9th inning blast. Monte Irvin put the Cubs ahead in the top of the 10th with a home run but Turk Lown forced in one run with a walk and Kazanski laid down his bunt to give the Phils the game. Relief pitcher Jack Meyer got the win.

The Exchange Club trounced the Optimists, 18-6, and the Jaycees won an 18-15 slugfest from B'nai B'rith yesterday to keep their record unblemished in the Hot Stove Baseball League.

Exchange registered its fourth consecutive win of the season behind Carl Puffinberger, who was making his initial start.

Fred Eichner and Jimmy Kline led the assault on three Optimist pitchers with two hits each. Eichner's blows were a triple and his second home run of the year. One of Kline's belts also was a round tripper.

Wayne Shook was the "big gun" for the losers with three hits, one a circuit wallop, while Long and Yutzy had a triple and single each. The Exchange Club used its entire squad in the one-sided game and batted around in two innings, the first and sixth. In the latter frame the winners scored nine runs.

Jaycees Win In 7th

In the game at Penn Avenue, the Jaycees spotted the Optimists 10 runs in the first two innings, took the lead at 12-10 with a 11-run outburst in the 4th, trailed 15-12 at the end of the 6th and exploded for six runs in the 7th to wrap it up.

In the final frame, three walks followed by Pinchhitter Billy Seiler's single netted two runs, an outfield error netted the third tally, tying the score at 15-15 and Ronnie Gulbranson drove in what proved to be the winning run with a timely base hit. Triples by Jack Cranor and Clarence Kean added two insurance tallies.

The Jaycees racked up 13 hits and took advantage of 18 bases on balls issued by B'nai B'rith hurlers.

Six Homers Recorded

Six home runs, four by the Jaycees and two by George Cousins of B'nai B'rith featured the wild affair.

For the Jaycees Gulbranson, winning pitcher, tripled and singled twice, Clarence Kean poled a homer, triple and two singles. Jack Cranor got four hits, including a round-tripper and three bagger, Floyd Crouch and Don Colbert hit for the circuit and Thompson drew five walks in five trips to the plate.

Cousins batted in seven B'nai B'rith runs with two homers and a single, Ben Broome hammered in four tallies with a triple and sacrifice fly and Billy Colbert collected two singles.

Kucks Limits Cleveland To Three Blows

Beats Tribe Third Time; Mantle, Busby Wallop Home Runs

CLEVELAND, June 15 (AP) — Young Johnny Kucks held the Cleveland Indians to three hits, and didn't let a runner get past first base until Jim Busby's eighth inning homer as the New York Yankees beat the Cleveland Indians 6-2 tonight.

Until Busby's bases — empty smash over the left-field stands, Kucks had let only four runners reach first base.

In the ninth inning, Al Smith reached second base when Norm Siebern, 21-year-old rookie outfielder recalled from Denver yesterday, dropped his fly ball. Smith scored on two more outfield flies.

Kucks then walked Vic Wertz, but Sam Mele hit into a force play to end the game.

It was Kucks' third victory over the Indians this season, against one loss. His record is now 8-3.

The Yanks pounded Mickey Mantle's 23rd home run. After Garcia left in the sixth inning, not a Yank reached first base off relievers Don Mossi and Bud Daley.

Bucs Capture Ninth In Row Under Lights

Foiles Hits 3-Run Homer; Ron Kline Scores Sixth Win

PITTSBURGH, June 15 (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates unleashed a 13-hit attack in support of Ronnie Kline tonight to thrash the St. Louis Cardinals 12-1 and hold onto first place in the tight National League race. Hank Foiles' homer with two aboard in the eighth provided the Pirates' final three runs. Righthander Kline held the Redbirds to seven hits, striking out six and walking one for his sixth victory against four losses.

He held the heavy-hitting Cardinals hitless until the fourth when Whitey Lockman and Al Dark, newly acquired in a trade with the Giants, hit back-to-back singles. A crowd of 26,276 saw the game.

The victory was the ninth straight for the Pirates under the lights, and was their biggest run total yet this year.

Ray Boone Stars, Detroit Wins, 5-2

DETROIT, June 15 (AP) — Third baseman Ray Boone smashed his 9th and 10th home runs to drive across all five Detroit runs tonight as the Tigers whipped the Boston Red Sox, 5-2, before 48,285 fans at Briggs Stadium.

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP) — Cherif Hamia, a clever curly-haired Algerian, shook off a groggy first round and came back to drop Miguel Berrios in the fourth on the way to a unanimous decision over the stocky Puerto Rican in a sizzling 15-round fight at Madison Square Garden.

Hamia, a 2-1 favorite on the strength of American victories over Carmelo Costa and Ike Chestnut on top of his fine European record, had a comfortable lead on all official cards. Referee Al Ber scored it 6-3-1. Judge Artie Adala 6-4 and Judge Leo Birnbaum 7-3. The AP was 6-4 for Hamia.

Cubs, Phils Split

PHILADELPHIA, June 15 (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies came from behind twice in a home run filled opener of a two-night doubleheader to edge the Chicago Cubs 6-5 on Ted Kazanski's 10th inning bunt single, but the Cubs came back with a six-run sixth in the second game to gain a split, 8-5.

Peter Thomson Leads Hogan By Stroke In National Open

Australian Has 139, Middlecoff, Furgol Among Four At 141

By WILL GRIMSLEY
ROCHESTER, N.Y., June 15 (AP) — Peter Thomson, a nonchalant precisionist from Australia, shot into the halfway lead of the National Open golf tournament with a score of 139 today, and breathing hot on his heels one stroke back was the inevitable "little man," Ben Hogan.

Thomson, winner of the British Open title the last two years, came home with the dusk and a second round 69 some three hours after Hogan had assumed first place with a 72-68—140.

Four Tied At 141
Two former champions, Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Ed Furgol, bery their chances for the lead on the two treacherous finishing holes—Oak Hill's "heartbreak bend."

They finished two strokes off the pace at 141 with Jerry Barber, from Los Angeles, and 24-year-old Wesley Ellis, a Texan. Middlecoff took a triple bogey seven on the par four 17th hole to finish with a 70 for the second round. Furgol, one under par going to the 17th, took a bogey on that hole and then missed a seven-foot putt on the 18th after making a dazzling 100-yard shot to the green from a fairway trap.

The almost forgotten defending champion, Jack Fleck of Davenport, Iowa, winner over Hogan in last year's dramatic playoff at San Francisco, wound up with 76-74—150, which failed to qualify him for tomorrow's finals.

Tied at 142 were the 1952 champion, Julius Boros, Ted Kroll, and Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., a former Amateur champion.

Sam Snead, called the best golfer never to win the U.S. Open, remained in contention—although not in too good a position—with a 71 which left him tied with a handful at 146.

The cutoff point for tomorrow's final rounds was 149, lowest in many years. Outstanding players who failed to make it, besides Fleck, included former champion Lew Worsham, former PGA champion Chick Harbert and Masters champion Jackie Burke.

Burke, with 152, wouldn't have made it even without yesterday's two-stroke penalty for making a score card mistake.

Bob Rosburg Fades
Bob Rosburg, the young pro from Palo Alto, Calif., with the unorthodox baseball grip, faded after pacing the first round with a 68. He skied to a 76, taking a double-bogey seven on the par five 13th.

"Dusty" Rhodes hurled Celanese to an 8-0 triumph over the Cumberland Knights of Columbus in a game yesterday at Campobello.

Rhodes tossed a three-hitter, struck out five and failed to issue a pass. One of the K. of C. hits was a double by Jimmy Collins.

The Silken collected 13 hits, including three safeties by Bobby Nelson and a homer by Bobby Williams.

The loss was the tenth straight for the Knights. Celanese has won three and lost seven. Score:

Bombers To Host Hyndman Today; Seek 7th In Row

Barrelville's Bombers, leading the Pen-Mar Baseball League by 1½ games, will put a six-game winning streak on the line today when they play host to Hyndman at 2:30 o'clock.

The Bombers last defeat came on May 13 when Centerville won by the score of 8-6. Then Barrelville knocked off Grantsville, 6-5, Flintstone 19-4, Zihlman 3-2, Mt. Savage 13-3, Zihlman 9-6 and Grantsville 13-7 in that order.

Zihlman's runner-up club invades Flintstone to play the winless Farmers, Wellersburg is at Mt. Savage and Centerville at Grantsville in other games scheduled today.

In Sunday contests, set for 2:30, Barrelville hosts the Mt. Savage Old Germans, Hyndman visits Centerville, Flintstone is at Wellersburg and Grantsville entertains Zihlman.

Department (state) Legion baseball officials will recommend to National Junior Baseball Commissioner Lou Brissie not later than July 20, one pitcher, one catcher, one infielder and one outfielder. A copy of the player's season record and a list of his high school grades must be submitted with his recommendation.

Backed By State Dept.
The tour has the complete backing of the State Department, which made initial contacts with the Latin American countries for the visit of the junior baseball team.

Teen-age representatives of nearly one million Legion junior baseball participants are scheduled to visit Colombia, Cuba, El Salvador, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Puerto Rico and Venezuela, probably between September 10 and October 20.

If this becomes a yearly project, departments which have had a representative on the team will not be permitted to send another player until every department has had one player on the team.

Cumberland Mibs Champ Heads For Asbury Park
berland champion will stay six days at the Kingsley Arms Hotel, only a block from the Atlantic Ocean. Tomorrow evening all the marbles and their escorts will attend a get-together banquet at the famous Marine Grill where you can watch the ocean surf as you eat. Everybody will meet everybody else; there will be brief talks by the Mayor Hines of Asbury Park and Ralph Shurtliff, national director. Each champion will be given a pair of denim jeans and a T-shirt, and books of tickets to boardwalk and beach attractions.

On Thursday there will be a sea trip 50 miles to New York City and return. Another day the boys will be taken on a tour of Fort Monmouth, headquarters of the U. S. Signal Corps.

But for three hours every morning starting tomorrow the marbles champs will "knuckle down" in the colorful and exciting series of games that will decide the marbles championship of the U. S. 1400 In Area Games.

All David's expenses are paid by the Times-News papers which sponsor the Cumberland marbles tournament so that some area boy might have the chance to shoot for the nation's marbles crown. Over 1400 boys participated in this year's Cumberland area games in 24 schools.

David, who won the championship of Centre Street School and then the Cumberland Area finals against 23 other school champions, has been practicing every day this week on the model rings built this year at his school through the combined interest of teachers and the school custodian. His first objective will be to win his league, the prize for which is a deluxe bicycle.

Legion Junior League Opens 11th Campaign

Cumberland Is Host To Frostburg Today

Opening games of the Mountain District, American Legion Junior Baseball League, are scheduled today.

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, defending champions, will play host to Farrady Post No. 24, of Frostburg, at Penn Avenue Field, while Midland will do battle with Oakland at Midland. Both contests are set for 2 p. m.

This year's four-team league will tackle a schedule of 24 games. Each team will play the three other teams of the circuit four times during the race which ends July 24. Games will be played on Tuesdays at 5:30 and Saturdays at 2 o'clock.

League's 11th Year

This is the eleventh season for the league which was revived following the Second World War.

Fort Cumberland has won six times in the past ten years—1946, 1947, 1949, 1953, 1954 and 1955.

Midland Post was the winner in 1950 and 1952. James P. Love Post, Lonaconing, finished on top in 1948, and Victory Post, Westernport, bagged the title in 1951.

Of special interest to all participants in this year's program is the announcement by national headquarters of the American Legion that 16 players from throughout the United States will be chosen to make a flying, six weeks tour of eight Latin American countries next fall.

Players selected for the tour will be chosen on the basis of their scholastic average, citizenship qualities and playing ability. To be eligible they must have played on an American Legion junior baseball team during the current season and must have graduated from high school prior to July of this year.

Department (state) Legion baseball officials will recommend to National Junior Baseball Commissioner Lou Brissie not later than July 20, one pitcher, one catcher, one infielder and one outfielder. A copy of the player's season record and a list of his high school grades must be submitted with his recommendation.

Exchange Bags 4th Win, Routs Optimists, 18-6

Jaycees Take Third Straight, Outslug B'nai B'rith, 18-15

Exchange Club trounced the Optimists, 18-6, and the Jaycees won an 18-15 slugfest from B'nai B'rith yesterday to keep their record unblemished in the Hot Stove Baseball League.

Exchange registered its fourth consecutive win of the season behind Carl Puffinberger, who was making his initial start.

Fred Eichner and Jimmy Kline led the assault on three Optimist pitchers with two hits each. Eichner's blows were a triple and his second home run of the year. One of Kline's belts also was a round-tripper.

Wayne Shook was the "big gun" for the losers with three hits, one in the circuit wallop, while Long and Yutzy had a triple and single each.

The Exchange Club used its entire squad in the one-sided game and batted around in two innings, the first and sixth. In the latter frame the winners scored nine runs.

Jaycees Win In 7th
In the game at Penn Avenue, the Jaycees spotted the Optimists 10 runs in the first two innings, took the lead at 12-10 with a 11-run outburst in the 4th, trailed 15-12 at the end of the 6th and exploded for six runs in the 7th to wrap it up.

In the final frame, three walks followed by Pinchhitter Billy Seiler's single netted two runs, an outfield error netted the third tally, tying the score at 15-15 and Ronnie Gulbranson drove in what proved to be the winning run with a timely base hit. Triples by Jack Cranor and Clarence Kean added two insurance tallies.

The Jaycees racked up 13 hits and took advantage of 18 bases on balls issued by B'nai B'rith hurlers.

Six Homers Recorded
Six home runs, four by the Jaycees and two by George Cousins of B'nai B'rith featured the wild affair.

For the Jaycees Gulbranson, winning pitcher, tripled and singled twice, Clarence Kean poled a homer, triple and two singles, Jack Cranor got four hits, including a round-tripper and three bagger, Floyd Crouch and Don Colbert hit for the circuit and Thompson drew five walks in five trips to the plate.

Cousins batted in seven B'nai B'rith runs with two homers and a single, Ben Broome hammered in four tallies with a triple and sacrifice fly and Billy Colbert collected two singles.

Nine Slated To Go Postward In $120,550 Belmont Stakes

Maine Chance Farm Gun Shot Is Late Entry

Needles Remains 4-5
Choice, Fabius 3-1;
$84,600 For Winner

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—Gun Shot, from the Maine Chance Farm, joined Needles, Fabius, Career Boy and the others today to make up a field of nine 3-year-old colts for the 88th running of the Belmont Stakes.

It had been hinted for several days that Gun Shot might take a crack at the mile and one half classic, and if all go postward to-morrow at 3:45 p.m., EST, the final jewel in racing's famous triple crown will be worth $120,650.

Needles, the temperamental Florida colt who won the Kentucky Derby for Bonnie Heath and Jack Dudley, remained the 4-5 favorite as entries closed for the race which has determined the 3-year-old title in nine of the last 10 years.

The Calumet farm of Mrs. Gene Markey will try for its third Belmont victory with Fabius, who lost the Derby by three-quarters of a length then handed a length and three-quarters defeat to Needles in the Preakness. Fabius is second choice at 3-1, and might have rated the favorite's role had he not lost the Leonard Richards stakes last Saturday at Delaware Park.

Whitney Entry Is 4-1

C. V. (Sonny) Whitney, who also has seen his silks carried to victory twice in the race, will shoot with the dangerous pair of Career Boy and Jazz Age. The entry is 4-1 in the early line.

Others in the race, which dates back to 1867 and is oldest of the Triple Crown series, are Mrs. C.B. Fischbach's Frosty Mr., winner of the Chesapeake Stakes; Fortune P. Ryan's Charlevoix; Mrs. Laudy Lawrence's Beau Diable; and Ricci Tavi, who upset Fabius in the Leonard Richards and runs in the colors of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Langer's Christiana Stable.

Horsemen were generally agreed that if Needles, the come-from-behind specialist, has regained his Derby "kick," the others will be out there fighting for second money of $20,000. The third horse collects $10,000 and fourth place is worth $5,000.

$84,600 For Winner
If nine go postward, the winner would net $84,600, making this the second richest Belmont, compared with High Gun's $89,000 lot in 1954. This doesn't, however, hold true for Frosty Mr. He was made a supplementary nominee Monday by payment of $5,000 after finishing third, a nose behind Fabius in the Leonard Richards. Frosty Mr. would net $79,650.

The weatherman promises partly cloudy skies, with the mercury in the upper 80's and a possibility of some showers. The heat is expected to trim the crowd to around 35,000.

The television and radio (CBS) will be nationwide, with TV from 3:30-4 p.m., EST, and radio 3:45-4 p.m.

Hawks Sign McCoy, Spartan Cage Star

ST. LOUIS, June 15 (INS)—The St. Louis Hawks today signed Julius (Hooks) McCoy, Michigan State basketball star, to a professional basketball contract.

McCoy, 6-2 190-pounder, is being counted on to team up with Al Ferrari, the Hawks second-half standout last season.

Ferrari had monopolized the Spartans' scoring marks until McCoy's season record of 600 points in 22 games easily bettered Ferrari's 442 total, made during the 1954-55 campaign.

Althea Gibson Wins Tenth Tennis Title

BRISTOL, Eng., June 15 (INS)—Althea Gibson won her tenth straight tennis championship today.

Regardless of whether she wins at Wimbledon where competition begins on June 25, the 28-year-old New York girl has come a long way since that day in 1950 when she first stepped nervously into the international tennis picture.

Today she defeated Australia's Daphne Seeny, 6-2, 10-8, in the best of England women's singles championship for her tenth successive European title.

TOP HURLER OF PVC — Harold Mongold, 165-pound right-hander of Moorefield High School's championship team, led the pitchers of the Potomac Valley Conference for 1956 with a 5-0 record. The Yellow Jackets' ace concluded his high school career with a three-year record of 13-1 in the conference. His only P.V.C. loss came on April 23, 1954 when he dropped a 2-1 duel to Veach of Petersburg. Then he reeled off 13 wins in a row—three in 1954, five in 1955 and five this year. His overall record with Moorefield, including non-conference games, is 17-4 broken down as follows: 1954—4-2; 1955—6-1; 1956—7-1.

Mongold's 5-0 Leads PVC, Toby Colaw Struck Out 71

Bauserman Second With 4-0; Murphy, Roy And Colaw 4-1

Harold Mongold, senior right-hander of the Moorefield High School Yellow Jackets, duplicated his 1955 performance when he posted a 5-0 record and led the pitchers of the Potomac Valley Conference for the 1956 season. Mongold appeared in five games, hurled 26 innings, yielded six hits and three runs, struck out 56 and issued only two bases on balls. He tossed a pair of one-hitters and a two-hitter and two of his triumphs were shutouts.

His three-year conference record was 13-1, including five shutouts. Bauserman's Mark 4-0 Bill Bauserman won four and lost none for Moorefield's championship team and finished in the runner-up spot. He worked in six games, pitched 32 innings, fanned 31 and gave up eight bases on balls.

Bill Roy, Keyser senior; DeWane Murphy, Elk Garden junior and "Toby" Colaw, senior sophomore of Southern High School, Oakland, finished in a tie for third place with 4-1 records. Phil Shepp, Keyser senior, won three games and lost 1.

Colaw Whiffed 71 Lefty Colaw, who turned in the highest batting average in the league, was also the loop's strike-out king with 71 victims in 44 innings and seven games. He had a one-hitter, two-hitter and three-hitter game to his credit and set the season high of 18 strikeouts in a single contest. The Garrett county portside yielded 17 hits and walked 20 batsmen.

The Belmont which, with the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, comprises the turf's triple crown, is the most important of the three from a breeder's viewpoint.

It has rightly been called the test of champions for it is run at the classic derby distance of a mile and a half. Horses which are short of stamina will never win a Belmont. It demands both speed and staying power and all around class.

And it has been truly said that a poor horse never won the Belmont but many of the greatest horses the turf has yet seen have had their names inscribed as winners.

Cornell Crew Favorite In Big Regatta

Huskies, Princeton Are Chief Threats

SYRACUSE, N.Y., June 15 (AP)—Cornell's poised and powerful defending champions were favored today to make it two straight in the three-mile Intercollegiate Rowing Assn. regatta on Onondaga Lake tomorrow.

Washington's undefeated Huskies, thirsting for victory after a five-year winless run, and Princeton's revived Tigers were rated the chief threats to the rangy swimmers from Cayuga's waters. Wisconsin and erratic Pennsylvania were the "darkhorse" possibilities in the field of 12.

The race will serve as a test for the Olympic trials on Onondaga, June 28-29-30. The top six are expected to match strokes with Navy's storied "Admirals"—the 1952 Olympic champs back for another try—and Yale and Harvard among others over the 2,000 meters (mile, 427 yards) course. Yale, rated at the top of the eastern heat along with Cornell, has its traditional four-mile engagement with Harvard at New London, Conn., tomorrow.

The three top varsity crews will be in adjoining lanes. Princeton in No. 9, Washington in the 10th spot and Cornell in the 11th position. There is supposed to be no advantage to any of the lanes. The other crews line up in this order: 1. Syracuse; 2. Stanford; 3. Boston University; 4. Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT); 5. Wisconsin; 6. Columbia; 7. California; 8. Navy; and 12, Pennsylvania.

Saxton, Basilio Get Return Bout

NEW YORK, June 15 (INS)—The New York State Athletic Commission granted special approval today for a return title bout between welterweight champion Johnny Saxton and former champ Carmine Basilio.

The bout, to be promoted by Norman Rothschild, probably will be held in Syracuse, N. Y., in the War Memorial Auditorium, sometime in August.

Basilio lost the title to Saxton last March 14 in Chicago on widely disputed decision.

Moose, Country Club Win Oakland Battles

OAKLAND, Md., June 15 — The Moose defeated the Rotary Club, 7-4, and the Country Club blanked the W.O.W., 15-0, in Oakland Pond League games today.

Dick Stuck pitched the team representing the Women of the Moose to its fourth win in five starts and struck out nine Rotarians. Wayne Callis, Terry Colan and Bill Kelley had two hits each for the league leaders while Don Stemple paced Rotary with three bingles and Don James had two.

Barry Sanders and Devers looked homers for the Country Club, the latter's coming with two mates aboard. Sanders limited the W.O.W. to two hits. The losers were charged with 15 fielding miscues. Scores:

NEW YORK, June 15 (INS)—The year 1867 was a notable one. The Dominion of Canada was established then.

Feudalism was abolished and the Mikado restored in Japan. Emperor Maximilian of Mexico was executed.

Russia made one of the biggest strategic moves of all time by selling Alaska to the United States for a paltry $7,200,000.

And there was the first running of the Belmont Stakes.

The first Belmont was won by the filly Ruthless and was worth $1,850 to the winner. The 88th running of the Belmont Saturday will gross $119,650 and will be worth $83,600 to the winner.

VITAL VITAMINS

Your beauty diet will keep you beautiful and happy.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Vital Vitamins

It has been said that vitamins play a big part of what you are today... or, just as important, what you aren't.

I knew a woman who never had a good appetite. She breakfasted on a cup of black coffee and was satisfied with a white toast, a bit of jelly and tea for lunch. She was irritable, constantly on edge with her children, and resented any kind of mild suggestions from her husband. Whenever he wanted to go to a movie or play bridge with friends, she was always too tired. Because she didn't care for food, she gave little thought to dinner preparation, and, consequently, no one enjoyed any mealtime in that household.

Finally the woman became weak and was forced to go the doctor. He discovered that she was a victim of vitamin starvation, with particular shortage of Vitamin B 1. He recommended a vitamin-rich diet of properly balanced food, and before too long peace and happiness was restored to this household.

This, of course, is an extreme case, but there are many who don't follow a proper diet and have vitamin deficiencies. Vitamin B 1 has been called the pepper-upper, and the first signs of the lack of it are usually loss of appetite and "that irritable feeling." Others include nervousness, headache, constipation, dizziness, loss of weight, rapid heartbeat, irritability. Long shortages of thiamin brings such signs as pain and heaviness in the legs, cramps in the calf muscles, numbness of fingers and toes and burning feet. These don't add much to charm, do they?

Court Restores Suit Arising From Murder

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $25,000 suit alleging an apartment owner and its manager were negligent in hiring a painter who killed a woman tenant was reinstated today by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

The suit, growing out of the death of Miss Cordie A. Whitman, 39, formerly of Cumberland, Md., had been dismissed in U.S. District Court.

In reinstating the suit for trial, the appellate court said there are thousands of government women employees, like Miss Whitman, who often live alone in small apartments.

Right To Protection

"They have a right to think they are not to be molested as a result of the reckless ignorance of their landlords in the selection of apartment employees," Justice John A. Danaher wrote for the court.

Miss Whitman was strangled and choked to death in her quarters in the Ritz Apartments in northwest Washington July 12, 1952.

The appellate court said her slayer, Harry Clifford Porter, formerly an Air Force technician, has been adjudged to be criminally insane and now is in St. Elizabeths Hospital.

The suit was brought by the victim's sister, Mrs. Mabel D. Kendall, administratrix of Miss Whitman's estate. The appellate court said William F. Hickey, the apartment resident manager, who hired Porter to do after-hours painting, "exercised no care whatever, either in the selection of Porter or the other workers hired with him or at his instance."

No Investigation Made

Mrs. Kendall's attorneys, Arthur J. Hilland and Thomas N. Kindness, contended that no investigation was made of Porter prior to hiring him, even though he was to work after hours without supervision. State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher assisted Hilland and Kindness.

The appellate opinion, written by Judge Danaher and concurred in by Judges Charles Fahy and Walter M. Bastian, declared: "To say that appellees (Gore Properties, Inc., and Hickey) may fail to make even the most cursory inquiry concerning Porter and then be allowed to excuse themselves in their ignorance is to say that their recklessness will be exalted."

"A premium thus would be placed even upon a willful refusal to make an elementary inquiry" by "landlords who choose to disregard the possibilities of harm to a trusting woman."

"In this compact land area of only 60 square miles known as the District of Columbia, more than 828,000 people dwell. Thousands of them are government women employees, like Miss Whitman, living, often alone, in small apartments where they have a right to think they are not to be molested as a result of the reckless ignorance of their landlords in the selection of apartment employees."

When the case came to trial 13 months ago, District Court Judge Charles F. McLaughlin directed a verdict for the defendants after Mrs. Kendall's side was presented to the jury.

Some 20 million of the 57 million passenger car drivers in this country are women.

Fire Chief Inspects Buildings

Two of three county-maintained buildings received a clean bill of health when inspected for fire hazards by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, chief of the Cumberland Fire Department.

But the County Welfare Building, formerly the Old West Side School on Cumberland Street, has three conditions that Parker recommended be corrected.

He suggested to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday that the fire escape on the rear of the two-story brick structure be repaired and repainted as it is in a very dangerous condition.

He recommended the addition of two-gallon soda-acid extinguishers in the boiler room, and on the first and second floors of the west halls. Chief Parker remarked that conditions and general housekeeping were very good.

The County Building on Union Street generally was in very good condition, but one minor fire hazard was found and corrected.

Chief Parker did recommend that an additional hand rail be installed on the steps of the east entrance of the building for the convenience of the handicapped, aged and infirm persons who are required to visit the building.

After hearing Chief Parker's report, the commissioners moved that he be authorized to place the fire extinguishers in the Welfare Building.

A copy of Chief Parker's report to H. G. Fritz, chief of the Division of Hospital Services, Baltimore, concerning the County Infirmary was also received by the commissioners.

There were no fire hazards found, he said, and general conditions and housekeeping were very good. He recommended the renewal of its state license.

Business Site Is Purchased

The three-story brick building at 444 North Mechanic Street has been purchased by the renters of the property for the past two and a half years, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Clingan, Mason Road.

The building is used by Clingan in the operation of the Clingan Electrical Supply Company, a wholesale electrical equipment concern.

The property was sold to the Clingans by Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Ruppenthal of LaVale. Tax stamps indicated the price was $66,000.

Prior to renting it two and a half years ago, Clingan operated his business on Henderson Avenue. Ruppenthal had used the building in his operation of the Ruppenthal Music Service.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, June 15—(INS)—One of the most engrossing magazine serials I've read in a long time, "Bellevue Is My Home," has been purchased by Buddy Adler in a deal made by Ingo Preminger. Dr. Salvatore R. Cutolo, in conjunction with Barbara and Arthur Selb, has written of the fantastic experiences which take place behind the walls of the world's largest hospital, Bellevue, in New York City.

All this will be made into a sort of "Grand Hotel" of a hospital with all the drama, comedy and medical miracles based on real happenings. Buddy says there are so many roles of doctors, nurses and ever changing patients that it will take a big cast, probably among whom will be Robert Mitchum.

It was no secret that Sidney Chaplin followed Elsa Martinelli to her native Italy and planned to vacation there. But he'll have to cut that short, because after viewing young Chaplin's picture, "Four Bright Girls," U-I sent him a cablegram telling him to be here June 25 to play opposite Maureen O'Hara in "The World and Little Willie."

Sidney, who is an American, as is his brother, Charles, Jr., does not share his father's ideologies. He reports to Producer Howard Christie and Director Jerry Hopper.

Betty Hutton really means business. She's reveling in the straight dramatic role she's playing with Dana Andrews in "Spring Reunion" at Republic.

Now she is talking about another dramatic picture with Hecht-Lancaster. They want her to star in a feminine version of "The Comedian," which will be retitled "The Comedienne." Betty says she's fascinated with the idea of portraying the TV star who is a heel in the story.

She and her husband, Alan Livingston, have bought a new home in Bel Air and are leaving the Jack Webb house in the valley. Betty also is slated to star in a TV series for NBC.

The honeymoon Victoria Shaw told me she didn't expect to get when she marries Roger Smith on July 28 has been handed to her on a silver platter by Columbia—and is she happy.

She was told today that the studio will pay all of her and Roger's expenses for a trip to her native Australia so she can attend the premiere of "The Eddy Duchin Story."

Victoria came to see me just before she went east, and she said she didn't expect that her parents will get a chance to meet her bridegroom until they go to Australia. She was making all the arrangements for her wedding herself and could talk of little else. She'll tour with "The Eddy Duchin Story" until July 20.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Dolores Sherwood Guinle, ex-wife of Rio millionaire Jorge Guinle, is marrying George Litman in Paris in a few weeks. Guinle, who is in town, tells me that he saw Dolores in Paris and likes Litman, who is in the armament business.

Mack Krim slipped quietly into New York a week ago to see Kim Novak. She'll be on his arm at the premiere of "The Eddy Duchin Story."

Handsome 27-year-old Nicholas Eden, son of Anthony Eden, has been escorting Carol Matthews about London. She was a runner-up in the "Miss America" contest several years ago.

A great publicity woman, Jane Lait, who used to handle Bing Crosby, has been appointed western publicity representative of the National Heart Association. Her only relation to George Lait is that she's his wife.

Ross ("Come Ona My House") Bagdasarian, young composer who entertained at Deborah Kerr's party, has been commissioned to write "My Brother and I" for "The Flesh and the Spur."

That's all today. See you Monday.

Houses Moved For B&O Yard Expansion Job

The first actual evidence that work will start soon on the $10,000,000 expansion program of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in Cumberland now is visible in South End.

A number of houses on the south side of Laing Avenue have been purchased by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

And the railroad has sold them to various individuals. Some of them are being torn down, while others are being moved to new locations.

The first of several that will be relocated was moved Monday through Thursday three blocks from Laing Avenue to a new lot on South Street by D. B. McGill, local housemover.

The land on which the houses were formerly located will be used in the railroad's new westbound yards.

B&O officials state that surveying crews are running lines and

Court Restores Suit Arising From Murder

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $25,000 suit alleging an apartment owner and his manager were negligent in hiring a painter who killed a woman tenant was reinstated today by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

The suit, growing out of the death of Miss Cordie A. Whitman, 39, formerly of Cumberland, Md., had been dismissed in U.S. District Court.

In reinstating the suit for trial, the appellate court said there are thousands of government women employees, like Miss Whitman, who often live alone in small apartments.

Right To Protection

"They have a right to think they are not to be molested as a result of the reckless ignorance of their landlords in the selection of apartment employees," Justice John A. Danaher wrote for the court.

Miss Whitman was strangled and choked to death in her quarters in the Ritz Apartments in northwest Washington July 12, 1952.

The appellate court said her slayer, Harry Clifford Porter, formerly an Air Force technician, has been adjudged to be criminally insane and now is in St. Elizabeths Hospital.

The suit was brought by the victim's sister, Mrs. Mabel D. Kendall, administratrix of Miss Whitman's estate. The appellate court said William F. Hickey, the apartment resident manager, who hired Porter to do after-hours painting, "exercised no care whatever, either in the selection of Porter or the other workers hired with him or at his instance."

No Investigation Made

Mrs. Kendall's attorneys, Arthur J. Hilland and Thomas N. Kindness, contended that no investigation was made of Porter prior to hiring him, even though he was to work after hours without supervision. State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher assisted Hilland and Kindness.

The appellate opinion, written by Judge Danaher and concurred in by Judges Charles Fahy and Walter M. Bastian, declared:

"To say that appellees (Gore Properties, Inc., and Hickey) may fail to make even the most cursory inquiry concerning Porter and then be allowed to excuse themselves in their ignorance is to say that their recklessness will be excused."

"A premium thus would be placed even upon a wilful refusal to make an elementary inquiry" by "landlords who choose to disregard the possibilities of harm to a trusting woman."

Thousands of them are government women employees, like Miss Whitman, living often alone, in small apartments where they have a right to think they are not to be molested as a result of the reckless ignorance of their landlords in the selection of apartment employees."

When the case came to trial 13 months ago, District Court Judge Charles F. McLaughlin directed a verdict for the defendants after Mrs. Kendall's side was presented to the jury.

Some 20 million of the 57 million passenger car drivers in this country are women.

Fire Chief Inspects Buildings

Two of three county-maintained buildings received a clean bill of health when inspected for fire hazards by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, chief of the Cumberland Fire Department.

But the County Welfare Building, formerly the old West Side School on Cumberland Street, has three conditions that Parker recommended be corrected.

He suggested to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday that the fire escape on the rear of the two-story brick structure be repaired and repainted as it is in a very dangerous condition.

He recommended the addition of two-gallon soda-acid extinguishers in the boiler room, and on the first and second floors of the west hall. Chief Parker remarked that conditions and general housekeeping were very good.

The County Building on Union Street generally was in very good condition, but one minor fire hazard was found and corrected.

Chief Parker did recommend that an additional hand rail be installed on the steps of the east entrance of the building for the convenience of the handicapped, aged and infirm persons who are required to visit the building.

After hearing Chief Parker's report, the commissioners moved that he be authorized to place the fire extinguishers in the Welfare Building.

A copy of Chief Parker's report to H. G. Fritz, chief of the Division of Hospital Services, Baltimore, concerning the County Infirmary, was also received by the commissioners.

There were no fire hazards found, he said, and general conditions and housekeeping were very good. He recommended the renewal of its state license.

Business Site Is Purchased

The building is used by Cingan in the operation of the Cingan Electrical Supply Company, a wholesale electrical equipment concern.

will get a chance to meet her bridegroom until they go to Australia. She was making all the arrangements for her wedding herself and could talk of little else. She'll tour with "The Eddy Duchin Story" until July 20.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Dolores Sherwood Guinle, ex-wife of Rio millionaire Jorge Guinle, is marrying George Litman in Paris in a few weeks. Guinle, who is in town, tells me that he saw Dolores in Paris and likes Litman, who is in the armament business.

Mack Krim slipped quietly into New York a week ago to see Kim Novak. She'll be on his arm at the premiere of "The Eddy Duchin Story."

Handsome 27-year-old Nicholas Eden, son of Anthony Eden, has been escorting Carol Matthews about London. She was a runner-up in the "Miss America" contest several years ago.

A great publicity woman, Jane Lait, who used to handle Bing Crosby, has been appointed western publicity representative of the National Heart Association. Her only relation to George Lait is that she's his wife.

Ross ("Come Ona My House") Bagdasarian, young composer who entertained at Deborah Kerr's party, has been commissioned to write "My Brother and I" for "The Flesh and the Spur."

That's all today. See you Monday.

Houses Moved For B&O Yard Expansion Job

The first actual evidence that work will start soon on the $10,000,000 expansion program of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in Cumberland now is visible in South End.

A number of houses on the south side of Laing Avenue have been purchased by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

And the railroad has sold them to various individuals. Some of them are being torn down, while others are being moved to new locations.

The first of several that will be relocated was moved Monday through Thursday three blocks from Laing Avenue to a new lot on South Street by D. B. McGill, local housemover.

The land on which the houses were formerly located will be used in the railroad's new westbound yards.

B&O officials state that surveying crews are running lines and rades in the area east of the present westbound yards. The grading for the new yards will be started this fall, the railroad announced earlier this spring. This will be the first major project in the big job that will take over years to complete.

In addition to the most modern marshaling yards in the nation, the B&O intends to install a new terminal. This has not been amplified, but it is understood it would require a new office building for Cumberland Division headquarters.

Opening lead—king of diamonds.

One of the neatest plays in bridge is the one known as the Grand Coup. It consists of doing a defender out of what looks like a sure trump trick. The Grand Coup will be found in many textbooks stored away among advanced plays with such terrifying titles as Deschepelles Coup, Double Squeezes, Vienna Coup and Dummy Reversal. The Grand Coup position can be readily recognized, and once two simple principles are mastered, it becomes easy to execute. It demonstrates today how the coup operates.

Three rounds of diamonds were played, declarer trumping the third one. Declarer played the ace and king of hearts, learning that East had started with four to the jack. To make the hand declarer had to avoid a trump loser.

It is a stock rule, in executing the Grand Coup, that declarer must reduce his trump holding to the same number as his opponent's. The timing must also be arranged so that at the critical moment the declarer leads a card from dummy which the adversary is forced to trump, allowing declarer to overtrump. The setting is such that the declarer effectuates a trump finesse, without leading a trump.

At the point West showed out of trumps, declarer had Q-10-9 of hearts, and East's holding was J-7. South played a spade, East winning with the ace. A spade was returned to dummy. South now led the king of spades and trumped it, in order to bring his trump length on a par with East. The king and another club were played to dummy's ace. The last spade was led, and East was helped. If he discarded a club, South would also, and the next play from dummy would trap the J-7 of trumps. If East ruffed the high spade, South again would have the remaining tricks.

Declarer has to ruff out his spade winner early. Otherwise he will find himself in the position at trick eleven of being compelled to trump the high card lead from dummy, when actually he wants to stay in dummy. Trump reduction avoids this.

New Policy For Old Series

Armstrong Circle Theater is one of the veteran drama shows on the air and, to speak frankly, it has not always been one of the better ones. Years ago, as I recall, a typical Circle story sounded as if it had been written for one of those sugar-sweet women's magazines. It was fiction, all right; in fact, it sounded unmistakably as if someone had made it all up.

This policy was not conspicuously successful. Television has a sort of built-in integrity, a ruthless honesty of its own, which shows up formula-writing for what it is. Last fall, though, Circle switched to a new policy of dramatizing real stories "behind the news," as the saying goes. This has not only raised the artistic level of the dramas but also, I think, given them more popular appeal. Truth, as William Randolph Hearst used to say, is not only stranger than fiction but a lot more interesting.

A case in point was Circle's production last Tuesday of "H. R. 8438—The Story of a Lost Boy." It's a truly remarkable story and, according to the Circle people, absolutely true. Elizabeth Steigerwald, born in America but raised in Yugoslavia, had been repatriated to America, after a spell in a Siberian prison camp. She had been separated from her son and daughter for something like 13 years and was trying desperately to locate them through the International Institute.

A search through the orphanages of Yugoslavia uncovered her daughter Maria and a boy, Anton Steigerwald, whom she claimed as her son Johann. Well, it wasn't Johann and, after being brought to this country, the fact that he's an imposter slowly filters through to the boy. However, for the first time, he had parents and a home and plenty to eat and naturally he was reluctant to part from these blessings.

For a year he stalled from telling his "mother" that he wasn't, though his "sister" had long since found it out. But finally, the word leaked out that puts the lad in an interesting dilemma. Under the provisions of the McCarran Act, since he is not an American. That's where H. R. 8438 comes in. It is a bill submitted by Rep. Samuel J. McConnell Jr., representative from Pennsylvania, which would permit the boy to stay in the country.

At the end of the play, the real Anton Steigerwald appeared briefly to tell how much he likes America and how he hoped he could stay. I hope so, too. As a piece of special pleading, it was enormously effective, and I shouldn't be at all surprised if Rep. McConnell got quite a few wires to support his bill. Incidentally, the real Johann has since been located and is now with his mother. The whole story, in short, is so incredible that it has to be true. You don't dare make up things like that.

I find this trend toward actuality a healthy thing, provided enough of the actuality stays in the story to make it worthwhile. A good many of the dramatic stories which are supposed to be based on somebody's files—the FBI's, the Navy's, police departments—wander so far from the files that the writers might just as well have stayed in their offices.

The script was something less than great writing but it was adequate. Maureen Stapleton, who is seen much too seldom on television, was excellent as the mother.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Opening lead—king of diamonds.

One of the neatest plays in bridge is the one known as the Grand Coup. It consists of doing a defender out of what looks like a sure trump trick. The Grand Coup will be found in many textbooks stored away among advanced plays with such terrifying titles as Deschepelles Coup, Double Squeezes, Vienna Coup and Dummy Reversal. The Grand Coup position can be readily recognized, and once two simple principles are mastered, it becomes easy to execute. South demonstrates today how the coup operates.

Three rounds of diamonds were played, declarer trumping the third one. Declarer played the ace and king of hearts, learning that East had started with four to the jack. To make the hand declarer had to avoid a trump loser.

It is a stock rule, in executing the Grand Coup, that declarer must reduce his trump holding to the same number as his opponent's. The timing must also be arranged so that at the critical moment the declarer leads a card from dummy which the adversary is forced to trump, allowing declarer to overtrump. The setting is such that the declarer effectuates a trump finesse, without leading a trump.

At the point West showed out of trumps, declarer had Q-10-9 of hearts, and East's holding was J-7. South played a spade, East winning with the ace. A spade was returned to dummy. South now led the king of spades and trumped it, in order to bring his trump length on a par with East. The king and another club were played to dummy's ace. The last spade was led, and East was helpless. If he discarded a club, South would also lead, and the next play from dummy would trap the J-7 of trumps. If East ruffed the high spade, South again would have the remaining tricks.

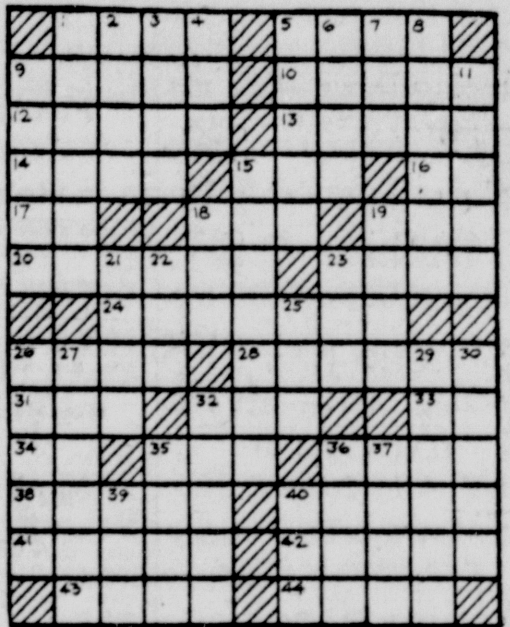

Declarer has ruff out his spade winner early. Otherwise he will find himself in the position at trick eleven of being compelled to trump the high card lead from dummy, when actually he wants to stay in dummy. Trump reduction avoids this.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Turnbull Would Seek Industries From Canada

Senator Opposed Carling's Entry

BALTIMORE, June 15 (AP)—Although he and a majority of Maryland legislators voted to keep a Canadian brewery out of the state, Senator John Grason Turnbull still welcomes industry from across the way to locate here.

The Senator from Baltimore County seemed to be out on some what of a limb when he invited vacationing Maryland motorists to pick up stickers at his office. The stickers say "Maryland Welcomes New Industry."

How did that jibe with Marylanders who might be going to Canada, Senator Turnbull was asked.

The senator said it also goes, "most emphatically."

"I welcome any opportunity to remind Canadians of a fact they have always known, and will not forget in spite of all efforts to confuse the issue: Canadian industry, like all reputable industry, receives the warmest welcome in Maryland."

The Maryland Legislature early this year passed a bill which would ban breweries controlled by other than residents of the United States. It was admitted the bill was aimed at the Carling Brewing Co. which had an option to buy a site for a plant in Sen. Turnbull's county.

Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin vetoed the bill and the legislature will be given a chance to override him at its 1957 session.

Sen. Turnbull is passing out the "welcome industry" stickers on his own. In his rejoinder to the reminder about Carling's, he stated:

"Many Canadians are opposed to the activities of a certain Canadian semi-monopoly, and like the majority of our legislators would never wilfully misinterpret a lack of warmth in this highly special and particular case as any reflection upon Canadian industry in general."

A Canadian government investigation of Carling's as a monopoly was the main item offered in support of the bill to ban its location in Maryland.

County Will Aid In Gas Rate Fight

A copy of an agreement between Allegany County and the State of Maryland for a $960,000 school construction loan was sent to the Board of County Commissioners yesterday by D. W. Zimmerman, assistant state superintendent of schools.

The loan will bring to $3,950,000 the amount the county has borrowed from the state for school construction purposes in the last few years. The county's limit for borrowing from the state for this purpose is $3,963,000.

In addition the county sold a $350,000 bond issue. The agreement, dated May 18, was signed by Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools; all three county commissioners, William H. ## Directors Report To Travel Council

The results of advertising and publicizing the beauty and tourist attractions of Maryland, and particularly Western Maryland, were shown in statistical form yesterday by Earle R. Poorbaugh, director of the Maryland Bureau of Information.

Poorbaugh revealed the results of a program of publicity yesterday at a meeting of the Maryland Travel Council held here at the Cumberland Country Club.

Referring to Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin's proclamation several years ago, calling attention to Western Maryland's scenic beauty by declaring the month of October "Autumn Glory Time," Poorbaugh said, "This publicity paid off."

In 1951, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad ran an excursion to Ohio LaSalle, with headquarters in ret County from Baltimore, and about 50 people were attracted. The following year, the number increased to about 350. Last year, over 1,800 rode the excursion.

At the same time, motorists began driving this way in October and visited Allegany and Garrett counties in greater numbers than ever before.

Poorbaugh had reports from hotels, motels and gasoline station operators, showing their comparative cash business over a period of five years for October.

Five years ago, the records show, October, so far as tourist business in this area was concerned, was a "dead" month. Last year, business people, especially around Deep Creek Lake and other parts of Garrett County, reported record business in October.

One Garrett County bank, for October 1951 showed total deposits of $2,160,000. For October of 1955, deposits were $2,623,000. Another bank showed deposits in October 1952 of $1,444,000. In October 1955, deposits were $1,611,000.

Last year, gasoline distributors reported more gasoline sold in Garrett County in October than in any previous month.

Everyone contacted, Poorbaugh said, attributed the upturn in tourist business to "generally improved business conditions and especially the publicity given this region by the state."

Poorbaugh told the Council this "Autumn Glory Time" idea of Gov. McKeldin's "only goes to prove that we can do business if we publicize what we have to sell."

Music Education Workshop Set At Frostburg

21 State Counties To Be Represented

Approximately 60 teachers and supervisors from 21 of Maryland's 23 counties will attend a music education workshop at Frostburg State Teachers College starting Monday and ending June 27, according to Dr. James E. Spitznas, director of instruction for the State Department of Education.

Purpose of the workshop, conducted by the State Department of Education, is to complete, for use in the 23 county school systems of Maryland, specific standards for and a descriptive account of vocal and instrumental music programs suitable in all 12 grades of elementary and secondary schools.

Dr. Spitznas said work on this program was begun in 1950 when music offerings in county public schools were evaluated with the aid of nationally known educators and music specialists. At that time plans were projected for improvement and extension of the program.

Rapid Growth Shown

Since 1950 music organizations, school bands, orchestras and glee clubs and instructional programs in music have grown more rapidly than any other subject field. The Frostburg workshop will incorporate into a state-wide curriculum plan the best of these gains and outline specific goals for the immediate future.

Mrs. Gladys T. Hopkins, state supervisor of curriculum, is in charge of the workshop administration. Willis White and Paul Huntington, state supervisors of high schools, will assist. The technical work on the curriculum guide will be directed by Dr. Frances Andrews and Dr. James Dunlop, professors of music education at Pennsylvania State University.

The workshop will be organized into committees representing elementary, junior high school and high school grades and the instrumental program. The following supervisors of music will serve as chairmen and co-chairmen of the various groups:

Committees, Consultants
Miss Margaret Adams, Anne Arundel County; Dr. Charles T. Horn, Montgomery County; Thomas R. Lawrence, Baltimore County; Mrs. Frances H. Lynch, Prince George's County; Miss Miriam L. Hoffman, Washington County; Philip Royer, Carroll County, and W. Valgene Routh, Allegany County.

The following instructors in music from various colleges in Maryland will serve as consultants:

Miss Charlotte S. Robinson and C. W. Bessick, both Bowie State Teachers College; Mrs. Mary Hunter, Peabody Conservatory of Music; Mrs. Mary Annetta Kemble, University of Maryland; Dr. Charles I. Sager, Frostburg State Teachers College, and Mrs. Genevieve Wisner, Morgan State College.

Cow Establishes New Production Mark In May

A registered Holstein cow owned by John T. Mason of Cresaptown set a new milk production record for the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association when she produced 92.9 pounds of milk, 43 quarts per day, during May.

This cow, a product of artificial insemination, is known as 51-XA-6768. She had 92 pounds of butterfat in 2,880 pounds of May milk. Harry E. Miller and Wheeler W. Arnold, supervisors, said this is the association's best record since its organization in 1949.

Two other Mason cows were in the select list, one being in a three-way tie for seventh, and the other tenth.

The second biggest butterfat producer was Ava, a grade Holstein owned by Brinker Brothers, Springfield, W. Va., with 82 pounds of butterfat. A second Brinker Brothers cow was tied for fourth.

Other dairy farmers with cows on the big producer list were C. O. and Elizabeth Miller, Midland; Samuel L. Pinto, Ridgeley; Shumaker Brothers, Rawlings, and Carl Howsare, Bedford Valley, Pa. Two cows tied for seventh. One Howsare cow was an Ayrshire and all of the other nine were Holsteins.

Some 815 cows were on test during May. The average production was 771 pounds of milk, 31.1 pounds of butterfat and 4.02 per cent butterfat.

Celanese Truckers Place Second In Safety Contest

Over-the-road drivers for the Central Trucking Division of the Celanese Corporation of America finished in second place in the American Trucking Association fleet safety contest for the contest year of 1955, and a certificate in the one million class of the Maryland Truck Safety Contest for 1955, it was announced yesterday by R. F. Moore, manager of the Central Trucking Division.

Celanese drivers operated 1,567,581 miles over the entire eastern seaboard delivering materials made by the Amcelle, Celco, Celriver, Rome, and Bridgewater plants to Celanese customers with only five non-fatal accidents, three of which involved property damage to company equipment only.

"Safe operation on the highways is our prime concern," declared Moore, and the entire credit for these awards goes to each individual Celanese driver and mechanic.

Our well-rounded safety program keeps each driver aware of the importance of defensive driving. This combined with good vehicle maintenance goes hand in hand with safe operation.

The planned preventive maintenance program at Central Trucking which provides for renewing vital air lines and brakes before they become so defective as to cause an accident is a big part of any safety achievement.

State Program Of Publicity Is Paying Off

Directors Report To Travel Council

The results of advertising and publicizing the beauty and tourist attractions of Maryland, and particularly Western Maryland, were shown in statistical form yesterday by Earle R. Poorbaugh, director of the Maryland Bureau of Information.

Poorbaugh revealed the results of a program of publicity yesterday at a meeting of the Maryland Travel Council held here at the Cumberland Country Club.

Referring to Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin's proclamation several years ago, calling attention to Western Maryland's scenic beauty by declaring the month of October "Autumn Glory Time," Poorbaugh said, "This publicity paid off."

In 1951, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad ran an excursion to Garrett County from Baltimore, and about 50 people were attracted. The following year, the number increased to about 350. Last year, over 1,800 rode the excursion.

At the same time, motorists became driving this way in October and visited Allegany and Garrett counties in greater numbers than ever before.

Poorbaugh had reports from hotels, motels and gasoline station operators, showing their comparative cash business over a period of five years for October.

Five years ago, the records show, October, so far as tourist business in this area was concerned, was a "dead" month. Last year, business people, especially around Deep Creek Lake and other parts of Garrett County, reported record business in October.

One Garrett County bank, for October 1951 showed total deposits of $2,160,000. For October of 1955, deposits were $2,623,000. Another bank showed deposits in October 1952 of $1,444,000. In October 1955, deposits were $1,611,000.

Last year, gasoline distributors reported more gasoline sold in Garrett County in October than in any previous month.

Everyone contacted, Poorbaugh said, attributed the upturn in tourist business to "generally improved business conditions and especially the publicity given this region by the state."

Poorbaugh told the Council this "Autumn Glory Time" idea of Gov. McKeldin's "only goes to prove that we can do business if we publicize what we have to sell."

Music Education Workshop Set At Frostburg

21 State Counties To Be Represented

Approximately 60 teachers and supervisors from 21 of Maryland's 23 counties will attend a music education workshop at Frostburg State Teachers College starting Monday and ending June 27, according to Dr. James E. Spitznas, director of instruction for the State Department of Education.

Purpose of the workshop, conducted by the State Department of Education, is to complete, for use in the 23 county school systems of Maryland, specific standards for and a descriptive account of vocal and instrumental music programs suitable in all 12 grades of elementary and secondary schools.

Dr. Spitznas said work on this program was begun in 1950 when music offerings in county public schools were evaluated with the aid of nationally known educators and music specialists. At that time plans were projected for improvement and extension of the program.

Rapid Growth Shown Since 1950 music organizations, school bands, orchestras and glee clubs and instructional programs in music have grown more rapidly than any other subject field. The Frostburg workshop will incorporate into a state-wide curriculum plan the best of these gains and outline specific goals for the immediate future.

Mrs. Gladys T. Hopkins, state supervisor of curriculum, is in charge of the workshop administration. Willis White and Paul Hurlington, state supervisors of high schools, will assist. The technical work on the curriculum guide will be directed by Dr. Frances Andrews and Dr. James Dunlop, professors of music education at Pennsylvania State University.

The workshop will be organized into committees representing elementary, junior high school and high school grades and the instrumental program. The following supervisors of music will serve as chairmen and co-chairmen of the various groups:

Committees, Consultants
Miss Margaret Adams, Anne Arundel County; Dr. Charles T. Horn, Montgomery County; Thomas R. Lawrence, Baltimore County; Mrs. Frances H. Lynch, Prince George's County; Miss Miriam L. Hoffman, Washington County; Philip Royer, Carroll County, and W. Valgene Routh, Allegany County.

The following instructors in music from various colleges in Maryland will serve as consultants:

Miss Charlotte S. Robinson at C. W. Bessick, both Bowie State Teachers College; Mrs. Mary Hunter, Peabody Conservatory of Music; Mrs. Mary Annetta Kemble, University of Maryland; Dr. Charles I. Sager, Frostburg State Teachers College, and Mrs. Genevieve Wisner, Morgan State College.

Cow Establishes New Production Mark In May

A registered Holstein cow owned by John T. Mason of Cresaptown set a new milk production record for the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association when she produced 92.9 pounds of milk, 43 quarts per day, during May.

This cow, a product of artificial insemination, is known as 51-XA-6768. She had 92 pounds of butterfat in 2,880 pounds of May milk, Harry E. Miller and Wheeler W. Arnold, supervisors, said this is the association's best record since its organization in 1949.

Two other Mason cows were in the select list, one being in a three-way tie for seventh, and the other tenth.

The second biggest butterfat producer was Ava, a grade Holstein owned by Brinker Brothers, Springfield, W. Va., with 82 pounds of butterfat. A second Brinker Brothers cow was tied for fourth.

Other dairy farmers with cows on the big producer list were C. O. and Elizabeth Miller, Midland; Samuel L. Pinto, Ridgeley; Shumaker Brothers, Rawlings; and Carl Hovsare, Bedford Valley, Pa. Two cows tied for seventh. One Hovsare cow was an Ayrshire and all of the other nine were Holsteins.

Some 815 cows were on test during May. The average production was 771 pounds of milk, 31.1 pounds of butterfat and 4.02 per cent butterfat.

Celanese Truckers Place Second In Safety Contest

Over-the-road drivers for the Central Trucking Division of the Celanese Corporation of America finished in second place in the American Trucking Association fleet safety contest for the contest year of 1955, and a certificate in the one million class of the Maryland Truck Safety Contest for 1955, it was announced yesterday by R. F. Moore, manager of the Central Trucking Division.

Celanese drivers operated 1,567,581 miles over the entire eastern seaboard delivering materials made by the Amcelle, Celco, Celriver, Rome, and Bridgewater plants to Celanese customers with only five non-fatal accidents, three of which involved property damage to company equipment only.

"Safe operation on the highways is our prime concern," declared Moore, and the entire credit for these awards goes to each individual Celanese driver and mechanic.

Our well-rounded safety program keeps each driver aware of the importance of defensive driving. This combined with good vehicle maintenance goes hand in hand with safe operation.

"The planned preventive maintenance program at Central Trucking which provides for renewing vital air lines and brakes before they become so defective as to cause an accident is a big part of any safety achievement."
